

History Is Visiting ASU

David Hilliard

One of the founding members and later,
Chief of Staff of the Black Panther Party

The Arizona State University Campus Environment Teams are jointly hosting events with keynote speaker,
David Hilliard.

Hilliard was a participant in the Black Liberation Movement of the 60s and 70s and is an internationally recognized authority on the Black Panther Party and its leader, Huey P. Newton.

Mr. Hilliard is also a founding member of the Huey P. Newton Foundation, an organization with a purpose of effecting progressive social change by teaching practical lessons of community service, such as the nation's first sickle cell testing program and the free breakfast program in schools-tenants that initiated the nation to follow country-wide.

Mr. Hilliard is the author of "The Black Panther" (2007), a collection of the Black Panther Party's official news organ, "The Spirit of the Panther", (2004) the first ever biography of Huey P. Newton, and "This Side of Glory", (1994) his autobiography.
