

School of International Letters and Cultures (SILC) Certificate Program in Arabic Studies

Overview

A Certificate in Arabic Studies provides students with skills that will enable and qualify them to communicate effectively in Arabic in the four areas of language acquisition: speaking, listening, reading and writing. In addition to these communicative skills, students will simultaneously gain a broad knowledge and understanding of the culture, literature, and traditions of the vast Arabic-speaking world. The Certificate provides critically-needed educational and cultural diversity that will enrich ASU students' undergraduate experience and prepare them for life as employees and employers. Graduate students in the liberal arts, social sciences and humanities seeking academic or professional careers in any of the three disciplines or thematic concentrations are also expected to be attracted to this Certificate because of the added advantage the program gives them in the job market given the demonstrably high need for graduates with Arabic knowledge.

Requirement

ASU students admitted to a degree program in any field of study would be eligible for the Arabic Studies Certificate Program. In addition to the course work and examinations required in the major field of interest, students would be responsible for fulfilling the minimum requirement of 18 hours (in addition to the basic language requirement) to earn the Arabic Studies Certificate. These hours can be chosen in consultation with the Certificate coordinator. A minimum grade of "C" or better is required in each course.

Language

Students must demonstrate proficiency in the Arabic language at the intermediate level. The language requirement can be satisfied by completing the 201-202 sequence, one year of study abroad at the intermediate level, or satisfactory placement on a proficiency exam.

Core Courses (18 Credit Hours)

Students must complete 9 credit hours at or above the 300 level of core courses from the following:
