

Columbia University Professor Gonzalo Sobejano Lectures at ASU

The Hispanic Research Center and the School for International Letters and Cultures
Announce A Free Public Lecture

Gonzalo Sobejano will lecture in Spanish on “Buenos y Malos Bandidos en El Quijote”
for ASU professors, the general public, and for the SPA 425, Medieval and Golden Age Literature class.

Time: Tuesday, February 12, 2008 at 10:40-11:55 am

Location: G. Durham Language and Literature Bldg., room LL269

Gonzalo Sobejano, Professor of Spanish, Columbia University, is one of the most recognized scholars in Hispanic Letters. His most recent books include:

- 2007 - Clarín crítico, Alas novelador (Catorce estudios)
- 2007 - Lección de novelas (España entre 1940 y ayer)
- 2005 - Novela española de nuestro tiempo 1940-1974 (En Busca del pueblo perdido).
- 2004 - Nietzsche en España 1890-1970
- 2003 - Inmanencia y transcendencia en poesía (De Lope de Vega a Claudio Rodríguez).

Prof. Sobejano is an active participant in and consultant to the Hispanic Research Center Noble Caballero and Bold Bandida Project. The project website link is:

<http://noblebandits.asu.edu/>

For more information contact the HRC at 5-3990 or SILC at 5-6281 or 5-4776