Message from the Arizona State University Police Department

Dear ASU Community,

On behalf of the men and women of the Arizona State University Police Department, we welcome all new and returning students, visitors, staff, and faculty. The police department's mission is to provide a safe and secure environment where all community members can study, live, work, and conduct research.

The ASU Police Department is a full-service police department operating 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, using a community-oriented policing model. We strive to create a safe and healthy environment through community-focused solutions, partnerships and engagement. In this time of social justice transformation, we recognize the importance our department plays in promoting an environment that enhances trust within the ASU community through communication, listening, respect, transparency, and procedural justice, which are the pillars of our department and critical to everyone's success. As an agency, we rely on all ASU community members to help identify and report potential safety and security concerns. This includes individuals identified as Campus Security Authorities, who have a unique responsibility to keep ASU campuses safe and secure.

ASU Police is one of many dedicated ASU departments offering services that are instrumental to the success of our community. This publication includes information on crime reporting procedures, university policies, safety tips, prevention programs, fire safety statistics for ASU campuses, and statistical information required by law. This information is the result of a university-wide collaboration that includes our department, the Dean of Students Office, Student Rights and Responsibilities, Housing, ASU Counseling Services, Environmental Health and Safety (EHS), including EHS Fire Safety and Prevention, Student Health, the Office of University Rights and Responsibilities, Parking and Transit Services, the Title IX Coordinator, the Office of General Counsel and ASU Facilities Development and Management, to name a few.

Report crimes and incidents

Arizona State University has several ways for campus community members and visitors to report crimes, serious incidents, and other emergencies to law enforcement and appropriate university officials [PDP 203-06: Reporting Crimes]. Regardless of how and where you decide to report these incidents, it is critical for the safety of the entire university community that incidents be reported immediately and accurately so ASU Police, or the responsible jurisdictional agency, can investigate and determine if follow-up actions are required.

ASU Police officers or police aides will respond to all calls for police service. Emergency calls shall take precedence; however, all calls will be processed as soon as possible. ASU urges people to report all crimes and suspicious activity in an accurate and timely manner. If the victim elects not to or is unable to report, a third party may make the report.

Crimes in progress and serious crimes that have just occurred should be reported by calling 911 from any phone. However, if the situation does not allow for a voice call to be made safely, text-to-911 can be used to report crimes from all campuses.

Whenever possible, the actual victim of the crime or witness should call directly. First-hand information is usually more accurate and complete. You may report a crime if someone gives you the information and leaves but include this fact when reporting. Crimes or suspected crimes may be reported by telephone, in person, or within the mobile application. The ASU LiveSafe app is available through the App Store and Google Play.

ASU Police Communications Center

The ASU Police Communications Center is a Public Safety Answering Point that is staffed with trained public safety dispatchers 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. The communications center, located on the Tempe campus, receives, processes, and prioritizes all emergency and non-emergency calls, text-to-911, and LiveSafe notifications from the ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe, West Valley, and ASU at Mesa City Center campuses.

The center utilizes a multi-line telephone system and a Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) system to enter, process, and log calls for service, while receiving and responding to all police radio transmissions. The center monitors security cameras, fire and intrusion alarms for the Phoenix Metropolitan campuses, as well as the ASU LiveSafe mobile app, used by the ASU community to report non-emergency incidents. The center responds to all messages received on LiveSafe and is responsible for sending out emergency notifications to the ASU community when directed to do so.

Emergency procedures | What to expect when calling 911

Cell phones do not automatically register a caller's name and exact location information in the 911 system. When calling 911 from a cell phone, tell the dispatcher you are calling from a cell phone and provide the location of your emergency. Dispatchers will ask questions regarding the emergency to determine the proper agency response or redirect the call to another law enforcement or fire department based on the location of the emergency.

For the ASU Downtown Phoenix campus, ASU Police Communications receives 911 calls from ASU buildings only. This does not include locations adjacent to the campus where office space or several floors are leased, as those are routed to the City of Phoenix Emergency Communications Center. The City of Phoenix Emergency Communications Center receives all 911 cell phone calls in the downtown area. Both ASU and Phoenix communication divisions work collaboratively, so calls are answered and transferred, if needed.

ASU in Washington, D.C. 911 calls are directed to the Metropolitan Police Department. ASU California Center 911 calls are directed to the Los Angeles Police Department. ASU at Lake Havasu 911 calls are directed to the Lake Havasu City Police Department. ASU School of Social Work Tucson calls are directed to the Tucson Police Department.

The information provided when reporting assists responders and helps determine whether emergency notifications are necessary. When calling to report a crime or incident, be ready to answer the following questions:

1. Where is the incident occurring?
2. What is happening?
3. When did the incident occur?
4. Who is involved?
 - a. Where and when the suspect(s) were last seen.
 - b. Suspect(s) description (e.g., gender, race, age, height, weight, hair color/length, clothing, facial hair, tattoos/scars).
5. Weapon(s), if any, and a description.
6. Other relevant information.

Text-to-911

Call if you can, text if you can't.

Text-to-911 provides equal access to emergency services for the deaf and hard-of-hearing community, as well as providing an alternative method of reporting emergencies when traditional avenues are unavailable. Text messaging offers wireless subscribers the ability to send text messages to Public Safety Answering Points using the standard emergency access number of 911. Only four wireless networks operate on the Text-to-911 system platform: AT&T, Sprint, T-Mobile, and Verizon.

The Text-to-911 system has limitations which include delivery delays, or a failed delivery. There are no mechanisms in place to notify the texter if the message is delayed or has failed to be delivered. Because delays or delivery failure can occur, Text-to-911 should be used only when the situation does not allow for a voice call. Text-to-911 can be used for all campuses.

Remember, call if you can, text if you can't .

Non-emergency procedures

ASU students, faculty and staff are encouraged to report crimes directly to the police. For non-emergency assistance on the ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe, West Valley, and ASU at Mesa City Center campuses, call ASU Police at 480-965-3456.

Consider programming your phone with the non-emergency number for the police department or security department associated with your campus locations you frequent.

Institutional reporting

ASU understands that not all persons want to report a matter directly to the police department. If you would like to report a crime without involving the police, you may choose to report a matter to the ASU Hotline for Ethics and Compliance from any campus. Call 877-SUN-DEVL or 877-786-3385. For more information about the hotline service, visit <https://cfo.asu.edu/asu-hotline>.

Do not use the hotline to report a significant emergency or dangerous situation with an immediate threat to the health or safety of students, faculty or staff.

Always call 911 to report emergencies.

Campus Security Authorities

The term “Campus Security Authorities” (CSAs) is a Clery Act specific term that encompasses certain individuals or offices responsible to alert the university to certain criminal incidents reported to them. The Clery Act requires the university to disclose statistics concerning the occurrence of certain crimes that both occur within the university’s Clery geography and that are reported to designated Campus Security Authorities.

Campus Security Authorities include any member of ASU Police, any individual who has responsibility for campus security, but who is not a member of ASU Police; any individual identified by the university as someone to whom a crime should be reported; and any university official who has significant responsibility for student and campus activities.

Crimes not reported directly to the Office of University Rights and Responsibilities (OURR), the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities (SRR), or to ASU Police should be reported online using the CSA reporting form available online <https://cfo.asu.edu/clery-incident>.

Below are the primary Campus Security Authorities to whom students and employees should report Clery Act crimes for the purpose of timely warning assessments and inclusion in the annual crime statistics. Visitors and others not associated with the university can also contact these CSAs to report crimes.

Confidential reporting and Clery Act exemptions

Licensed counselors and pastoral counselors are exempt from Clery Act reporting requirements when receiving information shared with them in the course of performing their professional responsibilities.

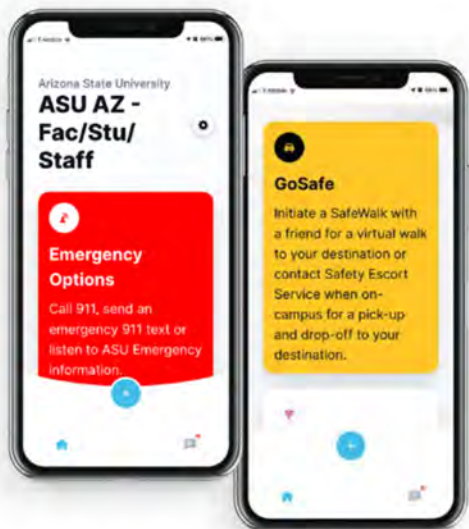

This exemption is intended to protect the counselor-client relationship by ensuring that these individuals can provide appropriate counseling services without an obligation to report crimes of which they may learn in performing their counseling responsibilities. The legally recognized privilege does have some exceptions, and there may be situations in which counselors are, in fact, under a legal obligation to report a crime.

However, licensed counselors and pastoral counselors are encouraged, if and when they deem it appropriate, to inform a person receiving counseling of the procedure for reporting crime on a voluntary, confidential basis for the purpose of including the crime in the annual disclosure of crime statistics.

Personally identifying information

A victim's personally identifying information (e.g., name, home or other physical address, contact information, social security number, date of birth) will never be included in the Clery crime log, the Annual Security Report or any other publicly available recordkeeping related to the Clery Act.

Voluntary and anonymous reporting

If you would like to report a crime, whether as a victim or witness, but do not wish to reveal your identity, you may contact ASU Police at 480-965-3456 or use the ASU LiveSafe mobile application available through the App Store and Google Play to report incidents on the ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe, West Valley, and ASU at Mesa City Center campuses. Additional information is helpful to fully investigate and prosecute a crime; however, ASU Police will respond to all reports of suspicious or criminal activity.

You may also contact the Silent Witness Program at 480-WITNESS or 480-948-6377 to report an incident anonymously to ASU Police.

For the ASU in Washington, D.C., you may submit tips via text that allows photo and video attachments to be sent. To contact Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Police via text, send your message to 50411 or call the tip line directly at 202-727-9099.

Services to help you stay safe and prevent crime

Emergency call boxes

Emergency call boxes are located throughout the ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses and at ASU at Lake Havasu. They are easily identifiable by the blue light on the top of the pole with “EMERGENCY” printed on it or by a bright yellow box mounted on a metal pole.

To operate the call box, press the call button, and a police dispatcher will answer and assist. If the area remains unsafe, you may move to the next call box location and activate it until police arrive. The location that the call box activation was received from is identifiable to police with each activation.

The emergency phones are located near campus buildings and in many university-operated parking lots and parking structures. The emergency phones are directly linked to the ASU Police on the Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses.

The emergency phones on the Downtown Phoenix campus have a red call button and are illuminated with a blue light. They connect directly to Phoenix Police.

The Lake Havasu City Police Department receives and responds to emergency call box activations at ASU at Lake Havasu campus.

Emergency call boxes are not available at ASU in Washington, D.C., ASU California Center, ASU School of Social Work Tucson, or ASU at Mesa City Center campuses.

Safety applications

LiveSafe App

ASU community members on the ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe, West Valley, and ASU at Mesa City Center campuses gain more mobile reporting power by reporting crimes and emergencies with the free ASU LiveSafe mobile app through the App Store, Google Play or the ASU Police website.

Smartphone users can download the app to report tips to ASU Police, make emergency calls and perform other functions to enhance their personal safety and security, including requesting the Safety Escort Service on the Tempe campus. Although app functionality is available to any ASU student, faculty, staff, or parent across all campuses, ASU Police only responds to the ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses for emergencies. Users at ASU in Washington, D.C., ASU California Center, ASU at Lake Havasu and ASU School of Social Work Tucson are encouraged to download the ASU LiveSafe app to take advantage of features outside of crime reporting.

The app allows users to communicate anonymously with ASU Police in real-time via audio, pictures, text and video. Friends and family also can virtually walk an app user home. The app's SafeWalk feature uses the phone's GPS to locate an app user's progress on a web-based map. Users may deactivate SafeWalk once they have reached their destination safely. Users have total control over whom they invite to use this feature, and they also may disable access at any time. The feature is a one-time use and cannot be used by the friend or family member to monitor a person's location at a later time.

The ASU LiveSafe app is an additional step ASU takes to improve the safety of the living, working, and studying environment that the university community enjoys.

While phone calls and written reports will always be accepted and acted upon by ASU Police, ASU LiveSafe users can report tips in new ways and with more accurate location information.

Community policing

Community-based policing is a collaborative effort between a police department and community that identifies problems of crime and disorder and involves all elements of the community in the search for solutions. It is founded on close, mutually beneficial ties between police and community members.

ASU Police uses a neighborhood approach as a community policing strategy. ASU Police officers and aides collaborate with residence hall and associated department staff, as well as community members to address public safety issues. In addition to partnering with the community, collecting and analyzing reported crime data plays an important part in this process. The data is reviewed and then educational, enforcement, and deterrent strategies are employed to reduce community crime.

ASU Police believes that preventing crime is a shared responsibility. For every crime committed, there must be a desire, an opportunity, and the ability to commit the crime. While you cannot control another's desire or ability to commit a crime, you can control the opportunity by using the following safety tips.

- Always remain alert and aware of your surroundings.
- Always secure valuable items with a proper lock.
- Do not walk alone at night.
- Never leave valuable items unattended.
- Record the make, model and serial numbers of your valuables.
- Report any unusual or suspicious activity you witness.

ASU Police Crime Prevention Unit

Because ASU recognizes it is better to prevent crimes than to react to them, ASU Police operates a full-time Crime Prevention Unit. The unit provides instruction and information about campus safety, crime prevention and personal safety reduction of risk on the ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses.

Crime prevention staff receive specialized training in Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED), and use this training in a variety of ways to benefit the ASU community:

- By request, they conduct safety walks for ASU departments interested in creating a workplace safety plan and minimizing risks within their workplace.
- Conduct facility security assessments for ASU administration and ASU Police command staff.
- Coordinate campus safety walks with campus groups (PSAC's Housing, USG, etc.), to educate and inform participants about CPTED principles, and teach them how to use the principles to minimize risks in their own environments.
- Serve as resources for faculty and campus planning.

The ASU Police Crime Prevention Unit partners with ASU Housing, Student Rights and Responsibilities, Parking and Transit, Greek Life and other departments to conduct free ongoing educational and experiential programs for students, staff and faculty throughout the year. Presentations can be tailored to meet a specific need and/or time requirement and provide important information about campus security policies, procedures, and practices. These presentation topics include active shooter response, bicycle safety and theft prevention, drug and alcohol abuse, home security, office safety, personal safety, and residence hall security. ASU Police Crime Prevention also participates in campus outreach activities to remind new and returning community members of common safety practices to promote their safety and the safety of their belongings.

ASU Police encourages students, faculty, staff, and visitors to be responsible for their safety and security, as well as the safety and security of others. Sun Devils keep Sun Devils Safe by being alert and aware of their surroundings, as well as remaining alert and aware of the demeanor and behavior of those in their vicinity. All Sun Devils should immediately report tips and crimes to ASU Police.

Prevention and awareness programs

Sexual violence, including sexual assault, sexual harassment, dating/relationship violence, domestic violence, and stalking can profoundly impact a victim or survivor's academic, social, and personal life, and negatively affects the university community at large.

ASU is committed to combating these complex social problems and fostering a positive learning, working, and living environment that promotes every individual's ability to participate fully in the ASU experience. Through advocacy, university policies, awareness efforts, and education and training programs, every ASU community member should be prepared to contribute actively to a culture of respect.

ASU's primary prevention and awareness programs

ASU seeks to foster and promote healthy, positive, and mutually respectful relationships. ASU's new students and new employees are introduced to our primary prevention and awareness programs during orientations. Primary prevention programs are initiatives and strategies intended to stop relationship violence, domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking before they occur. These programs seek to change behavior in a healthy and safe direction, encourage bystander intervention, and emphasize risk reduction. Awareness programs increase audience knowledge, share information and resources to prevent violence, promote safety, and reduce perpetration.

Prevention and education efforts are intended to enhance communication and awareness about support services and resources for victims. ASU strives to foster collaboration among students, faculty and staff to create messages and programs that cultivate a community of care. Programs and initiatives surrounding sexual assault, sexual harassment, dating violence, relationship violence, and stalking are continually evolving to meet the needs of the ASU community and beyond.

In addition to orientation programs, another primary prevention initiative is the Community of Care program. The 30-minute online education program educates students on the code of conduct, bystander intervention, and community standards. The program highlights priority areas, including alcohol and marijuana use, bystander intervention, academic integrity, managing stress and provides resources to students struggling in any of these areas and is a part of the ongoing effort to increase bystander empowerment.

Ongoing prevention and awareness campaigns

In addition to primary prevention and awareness programs, ASU provides ongoing prevention and awareness campaigns for all current students and employees. These programs increase understanding of the topics and skills necessary to address relationship violence, domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking.

Vector Sexual and Relationship Violence Prevention is an online education program that addresses sexual and relationship violence and available resources, bystander intervention, mitigating risk and understanding consent. All new ASU students, including first-year students, transfer students, and graduate students, are expected to complete the course. This course is placed on their MyASU To-Do list.

There are a wide variety of wellness education programs around sexual misconduct, including both live programs and awareness campaigns. Ongoing efforts include continued development and updating of the ASU-specific Sexual Violence Prevention website. Also, to better serve our community, ASU created and is distributing the Sexual Assault and Misconduct Resource Guide, which provides information on obtaining immediate medical assistance; psychological support resources; confidential reporting; anonymous reporting; Student Rights and Responsibilities Office investigation reporting guidelines; and investigatory components when reporting to law enforcement.

Campus SaVE Act

Sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking

The Campus Sexual Violence Elimination Act

— SaVE Act — was passed in March 2013 as part of the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act, VAWA. As a result, universities must include statistics on incidents of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking.

ASU prohibits dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking as defined for purposes of the Clery Act. ASU recognizes that sexual misconduct, including sexual violence, is a societal problem, and members of university and college communities have not been immune. Such violence profoundly impacts a victim's academic, social, and personal life, and negatively affects the experiences of their friends and families, other students, and all university community members.

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 protects individuals from discrimination based on sex in any educational program or activity occurring within the United States operated by recipients of federal financial assistance. Sexual harassment, which includes acts of sexual violence, is a form of sex discrimination prohibited by Title IX. ASU does not discriminate on the basis of sex in the employment, education programs or activities it operates. ASU's Title IX Coordinator, 480-965-0696, works with the Office of University Rights and Responsibilities, which is available to investigate and resolve allegations of discrimination, harassment, and retaliation, involving conduct of faculty, staff, and other ASU affiliates. The Title IX Coordinator also works with ASU's Student Rights and Responsibilities, which investigates and resolves allegations involving student conduct. All reports of such conduct are taken seriously, and appropriate supportive measures will be offered to a complainant.

ASU strives to foster a positive learning, working, and living environment that promotes every individual's ability to participate fully in the ASU experience. This participation should be without fear of sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking. ASU works to combat these social problems through university policies (e.g., [\[ACD 401: Prohibition Against Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation\]](#), [\[SSM 104-01: Student Code of Conduct and Student Disciplinary Procedures\]](#)) awareness efforts, education programs, and resources.

For more information visit <https://sexualviolenceprevention.asu.edu/>.

ASU has a comprehensive campaign involving awareness, education and prevention strategies for new and returning students and employees to address sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking. The program is culturally relevant, inclusive of diverse communities and identities, sustainable, and is responsive to the needs of the ASU community. ASU uses strategies identified by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention as being effective in reducing sexual violence in communities.

An overview of the programs is provided in the Ongoing Prevention and Awareness Campaigns section of this document.

Since fall 2015, new students taking ASU 101 have been provided education to raise awareness about sexual violence, prevention, and bystander intervention. Currently, all new ASU students — first-time freshman, transfers and new graduate students — are expected to complete Community of Care. The online educational module was designed to provide information and training about ASU's values and code of conduct, enhance awareness of sexual violence and its impact on college students, and provide critical information on what to do if you or someone you know experiences sexual violence. Expanded sexual assault prevention training and education are also provided to all faculty and staff. Information on ASU's numerous, ongoing training and education programs dedicated to combating sexual violence, sexual assault, sexual harassment, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking is located at <https://sexualviolenceprevention.asu.edu/>. The web portal provides a comprehensive list of campus and other available resources.

ASU uses live training as well as online training modules to educate students and employees regarding the prevention of discrimination and harassment in the ASU community. The training highlights ASU's continued commitment to a positive educational and workplace environment. The training includes information on how to identify and prevent the prohibited behavior, and where and how to report concerns. All ASU employees are required to complete the training and can enroll online at <https://cfo.asu.edu/OEI-training>.

An overview of ASU's bystander training is provided in the Ongoing Prevention and Awareness Campaigns section of this document. As part of the training, attendees learn about safe and positive options for preventing harm and intervening when there is a risk of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking. Training includes recognizing situations that could increase the potential for harm, understanding conditions that facilitate violence, overcoming barriers that keep people from intervening, safe and effective intervention options, and steps for acting to intervene. Examples include the following:

Step Up and Do Your Part | Bystander Intervention

Our ASU community expects that you will step up and help others in need. It's the Sun Devil way to create a powerful network of students who watch out for each other, show concern for each other's well-being, and help prevent harmful situations from occurring. How and when to intervene are often difficult decisions. Your first concern should always be safety. If you or someone else is in immediate danger, call 911 immediately. Included below are some general tips about intervention when the situation does not pose any immediate threat of danger.

1. Pay attention. It is easier for you to notice something amiss if you are aware of what is going on in your surroundings. If you get the sense something is wrong, trust your instincts. If you are observing a situation where someone is encouraging another person to become intoxicated with alcohol or other drugs — step in.

2. Take personal responsibility. People often do not intervene because they believe it is not their responsibility or someone else will help the person. Think about what you would want someone to do for you or a friend or family member. As Sun Devils, we want ASU to be a safe community and it is important to watch for your Sun Devil family members.
3. Decide how to help. Start by assessing the situation. Determine whether it is safe for you to intervene on your own, whether you should call others to help you, and whether to involve the police. Thinking about these questions will help you determine how you can effectively address the situation.
 - De-escalate: Be calm and respectful.
 - Offer help: Signal your concern and willingness to act. It's okay if you are turned down at first or altogether; simply offering help can change the dynamics.
 - Slow things down: Give people time to extricate themselves, if that's what they want.
 - Disrupt the situation: Intrude. Make a joke. Change the topic. Spill something. Be a third wheel.
4. Early Intervention. It is important to intervene as soon as you notice someone might be in danger. It is typically safer and more effective to intervene before a situation escalates. You should never intervene if you feel your personal safety is at risk. If you feel unsafe, you should get the police involved.
5. Refer peers to resources. There are a variety of campus resources that can help someone who has experienced sexual violence. Educate yourself about these resources, which will prepare you to help someone who may disclose sexual violence to you. If someone tells you they have been sexually assaulted, believe them, be there for them, and share information about resources available to help them. For more information, visit <https://sexualviolenceprevention.asu.edu/>.

Training also focuses on risk reduction. Options for acting are presented with the intent of decreasing bystander inaction, increasing victim empowerment, promoting safety and addressing conditions that facilitate violence.

Cases involving allegations of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking, reported at ASU are promptly, fairly, and thoroughly investigated. ASU provides victims with written notification of their rights and options that let them know they are not alone including, but not limited to, providing guidance on finding a safe place, filing a police report, talking with counselors, seeking medical care, and changing student living, academic, transportation, or work situations. To learn more, visit <https://sexualviolenceprevention.asu.edu/>.

A professional counselor who is engaged in providing mental health counseling to members of the institution’s community and who is functioning within the scope of the counselor’s license or certification has no Clery Act crime reporting obligations. However, professional counselors are encouraged; if and when they deem it appropriate, to inform a person receiving counseling of the crime reporting procedure on a voluntary, confidential basis for the purpose of including the crime in the annual disclosure of crime statistics. When making such a report, the individual is not required to disclose personal identifying information.

The victim’s personally identifying information (e.g., name, home or other physical address, contact information, social security number, date of birth) will never be included in the Clery crime log, the Annual Security Report, or any other publicly available recordkeeping document related to the Clery Act.

Preserving evidence

When sexual violence, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking is alleged, it is important to preserve evidence when possible. Such evidence may assist in proving that the alleged criminal offense occurred or may be helpful in obtaining a protective order. Physical evidence is best collected within 72 hours of the assault but can be collected up to 120 hours (five days) after the assault. Try to preserve evidence even if you are unsure at the time whether you wish to pursue criminal charges or other actions to address the violence because that will preserve your options for doing so. To preserve evidence, the following tips can be used:

Sexual Assault
Evidence of sexual assault can be preserved by not showering or bathing, douching, urinating, brushing teeth, or laundering, changing or discarding clothing and/or bedding until evidence can be collected.
Evidence can also be preserved by saving call records, text messages, social media communications, and other evidence that may assist in an investigation.
Every sexual assault survivor has a right to have a free forensic medical examination administered by a registered nurse who has received advanced training to provide care and treatment to sexual assault survivors.
Even if you are not sure that you want to file a police report, it can be helpful to have any available evidence collected in case you decide to file a report with law enforcement at a later time.
Domestic and dating violence
Not all experiences of domestic and dating violence cause visible injuries. If visible injuries are present, it can be helpful to document them with photographs, if it is safe to do so. It is also important to seek medical attention if possible and safe to do so.
Stalking
If you have experienced stalking, it can be helpful to an investigation to retain any evidence of that behavior, including documentation of any unwanted communication (written, oral, electronic), posts (such as on social media), gifts, etc.

Police investigation activation

Reporting to the police activates a process designed to determine what happened. The order in which the steps occur may vary slightly between police departments and based upon specifics of the case. The steps involved in reporting are an initial interview of the victim to determine basic facts of the incident (who, what, where, when, how), a forensic medical examination conducted by a certified Forensic Nurse Examiner (optional), interview with a detective, witness interviews, evidence collection (clothing, bedding, video, receipts, text messages, emails, etc.) and review.

For ASU Police cases that meet the elements of sexual assault or sex offense as defined in the Arizona Revised Statutes and probable cause is established for criminal charges, cases will be submitted to the Maricopa County Attorney's Office for prosecution. For campus locations outside of the Phoenix Metropolitan area, local law enforcement will investigate and make the determination to submit the case for prosecution. The ASU Victim-Survivor Services can assist you with navigating the process and can be contacted at 480-727-5167.

Reporting sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking to ASU Police does not require filing criminal charges. However, it does activate all support systems for the victim, including campus resources. Victims may notify ASU Police or local law enforcement directly. However, if a victim so elects, the ASU Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities or a Campus Security Authority will assist the victim in notifying law enforcement authorities.

As part of Arizona's criminal justice process, the victim is given a document listing their rights under the Arizona Constitution, Article 2, Section 2.1.\(A\), which preserves and protects the victim's rights to justice and due process. It also lists the rights which automatically attach to the victim and a list of rights the victim must request, along with information on victim compensation, orders of protection/injunctions against harassment, and a domestic violence legal advocacy resource with contact information. The victim also receives a Community Resource and Links sheet, which provides telephone numbers and webpage addresses for local resources.

A victim may decline to notify law enforcement but still take advantage of all other ASU and local support systems. When a student or employee reports to ASU that he or she has been a victim of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, whether the offense occurred on- or off-campus, ASU will provide the student or employee with a written explanation of the student or employee's rights and options.

Confidentiality: ASU will maintain the confidentiality of the information it receives, except where disclosure is required by law; necessary to protect the health, safety, or security of others; or is necessary to facilitate legitimate university processes, including the reporting, investigation and resolution of student code of conduct violations as well as the resolution of discrimination, harassment or retaliation allegations. ASU will also complete publicly available recordkeeping, including Clery Act reporting and disclosures, without the inclusion of personally identifying information about the victim. If a "timely warning" is required related to an act of sexual violence, ASU will not disclose the victim's name in the timely warning.

Free medical forensic sexual exam

Under the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act, states like Arizona that receive VAWA STOP formula grant funding must provide medical forensic sexual examinations to all victims regardless of whether police involvement is desired. The medical forensic sexual exam is always free of charge to the victim or survivor of a crime of sexual violence. ASU encourages survivors to obtain an exam to preserve evidence should they later decide to seek prosecution. Exams must be done within 120 hours (5 days) of the assault.

If the survivor chooses to report a crime of sexual violence to ASU Police, and would like to have a medical forensic exam, the police will assist by scheduling the exam on their behalf and transporting them to a Family Advocacy Center. However, as noted, a survivor may obtain a forensic sexual examination without police involvement. To obtain an exam without law enforcement involvement, contact HonorHealth Forensic Nurse Examiner Program, at 480-312-6339 and the nurse will assist with scheduling at one of the Family Advocacy Centers. The following is a list of Family Advocacy Centers available within the various geographical areas near ASU campuses.

Orders of protection and injunctions against harassment

Civil court orders are issued in an attempt to prevent continuing acts of violence or harassment. A person who is being victimized has the right to file a petition with a magistrate, justice of the peace, or superior court judge for an order of protection or injunction against harassment.

The relationship of the petitioner and the defendant, as defined in A.R.S. § 13-3601, determines which order applies for orders issued within Maricopa (ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses), Mojave County (ASU at Lake Havasu), and Pima County (ASU School of Social Work Tucson), Arizona.

The relationship of the petitioner and the defendant as defined in D.C. Code § 16-1003 defines the relationships required to obtain a Civil Protection Order within the District of Columbia (The Washington Center).

The relationship of the petitioner and the defendant as defined in CA FAM § 6211 must be domestic in nature to obtain a Domestic Violence Restraining Order within the State of California (ASU California Center). A Civil Harassment Injunction may be obtained for all other instances of harassment as defined in CA Civ Pro § 527.6.

Protection orders

An order of protection is a civil court order that prohibits a specific person from committing an act of harassment or domestic violence against another person or persons. The order of protection is available based on the relationship you have with the party you are seeking protection from (e.g., current or former spouse, someone with whom you live or have lived, someone with whom you share a child, etc.) and must be issued by a judge and served by a police officer, deputy sheriff or process server. The protection order will be effective for 12 months from the service date unless quashed by the court.

Protection orders can restrain a defendant from continuing acts of violence and harassment by prohibiting the individual from contacting or coming in contact with you as described in the order. A protection order can also provide you with legal recourse if the defendant violates the order.

Protection orders cannot resolve landlord/tenant disputes, change custody or visitation orders, or guarantee your safety.

Injunction against harassment

An Injunction Against Harassment does not depend upon relationships and is available if the conduct of any person is "Harassment" as defined by law A.R.S. § 13-2921. In Arizona, harassment is a series of acts (at least two events) over any period of time that is directed at a specific person, and that would cause a reasonable person to be seriously alarmed, annoyed or harassed and the conduct, in fact, seriously alarms, annoys, or harasses the person and serves no legitimate purpose.

In the District of Columbia, a Restraining Order can be obtained for all incidents of harassment defined in D.C. Code § 22-3133 involving parties who do not meet the relationship definitions as provided in D.C. Code § 16-1003. In the District of Columbia, harassment is defined as an individual engaging in a course of conduct directly or indirectly, or through one or more third persons, in person or by any means, on two or more occasions, to:

- (a) Follow, monitor, place under surveillance, threaten, or communicate to or about another individual;
- (b) Interfere with, damage, take, or unlawfully enter an individual's real or personal property or threaten or attempt to do so; or

(c) Use another individual's personal identifying information.

In the State of California, a Civil Harassment Injunction can be obtained for all incidents of harassment defined in CA Civ Pro § 527.6 involving parties who do not meet the relationship requirement definitions as provided in CA FAM § 6211. In the State of California, harassment is defined as unlawful violence, a credible threat of violence, or a knowing and willful course of conduct directed at a specific person that seriously alarms, annoys, or harasses the person, and that serves no legitimate purpose. The course of conduct must be that which would cause a reasonable person to suffer substantial emotional distress and must actually cause substantial emotional distress.

Applying for an Order of Protection or Injunction Against Harassment

Orders within Maricopa County, Mojave County, and Pima County, Arizona

To apply for an order in Maricopa County (ASU Downtown Phoenix campus, Polytechnic, Tempe or West Valley campuses), Mojave county (ASU at Lake Havasu), or Pima county (ASU School of Social Work Tucson), you may use the AZPOINT¹⁰ (Arizona Protective Order Initiation and Notification Tool). The court needs your contact information. If the person you need protection from (the defendant) does not know where you live, the court can hide your address so the defendant will not see it in your order of protection paperwork.

You will need to provide information on what acts of violence or threatening conduct occurred, leading you to apply for protection and addresses to which you do not want the defendant to come. In conjunction, you need to provide the names and relationships of other persons for whom you may request protection, whether the defendant has access to or possesses firearms, the nature of your relationship to the defendant, and whether there are any courts involved in the relationship (divorce, child custody, etc.)

You will then appear before a justice of the peace who will hear your sworn testimony and review evidence. The justice will decide whether your order will be issued immediately or whether a hearing will be set. There are no fees associated with applying for any of these protection orders at the time of publication of this document.

Once issued by the justice court, the order or injunction will be in effect when a private process server, a law enforcement officer, or a constable serves it to the defendant. It remains in effect for one year from the date it is served. If the defendant violates the order or injunction, contact law enforcement immediately. If you are in physical danger, call 911. Victims are reminded to remain cautious and have a personal safety plan.

Orders within the State of California

To apply for a civil harassment injunction or domestic violence restraining order in the State of California (ASU California Center), the court will need your contact information. If the person you need protection from (the defendant) does not know where you live, the court can withhold this information.

You will need to provide information on what acts of violence or threatening conduct occurred leading you to apply for protection, addresses you do not want the defendant to come to, the names and relationships (if applicable) of other persons for whom you may request protection, and whether the defendant has access to or possesses firearms.

You will then appear before a judge who will hear your sworn testimony and will decide whether your order will be issued immediately or whether a hearing will be set. There may be fees associated with filing a restraining order or civil harassment injunction.

Once issued by the judge, the order will be in effect for up to one year from the date the defendant is served by a private process server, a law enforcement officer, or constable. If the defendant violates the order, contact local law enforcement immediately. If you are in physical danger, call 911. Victims are reminded to remain cautious and have a personal safety plan.

To obtain additional information on the forms necessary to file a petition (form requesting the orders), contact the court responsible for issuing orders closest to your campus.

Orders within the District of Columbia

To apply for a civil protection or restraining order in the District of Columbia (ASU in Washington, D.C.), the court will need your contact information. If the person you need protection from (the defendant) does not know where you live, the court can shield the address. Should any future motions related to the order be initiated by the defendant, the court will act as the recipient of the motion on behalf of the petitioner and forward all documents to the petitioner's shielded address.

You will need to provide information on what acts of violence or threatening conduct occurred leading you to apply for protection, addresses you do not want the defendant to come to, the names and relationships (if applicable) of other persons for whom you may request protection, and whether the defendant has access to or possesses firearms. You will then appear before a judge who will hear your sworn testimony and will decide whether your order will be issued immediately or whether a hearing will be set. There may be fees associated with filing a temporary restraining order, but none associated with civil protection orders as of the time of publication of this document.

Once issued by the judge, the order will be in effect for up to one year from the date the defendant is served by a private process server, a law enforcement officer, or constable. If the defendant violates the order, contact local law enforcement immediately. If you are in physical danger, call 911. Victims are reminded to remain cautious and have a personal safety plan.

To obtain additional information on the forms necessary to file a petition (form requesting the orders), contact the court responsible for issuing orders closest to your campus.

Emergency orders of protection for domestic violence or dating violence

If the court is closed for business, an emergency order of protection can be granted by a judge in writing, verbally, or telephonically to protect a person in imminent danger of domestic or dating violence. Emergency orders of protection are obtained through local law enforcement agencies. If you need an emergency order of protection and are in immediate danger, call 911. If the order is granted, it will be a temporary order only good until the close of the next day of court business following the day the emergency order was issued. You will need to go to the location where protective orders are issued, the very next business day, to complete and file a petition for a permanent order of protection.

“No contact” orders

ASU administration does not issue orders of protection or injunctions against harassment but may issue “no contact” orders through the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Students can request no contact orders online via Request for a No-Contact Directive form. If a “no contact” order is deemed appropriate, it will be issued, and the involved parties will be contacted. The stipulations may include, but are not limited to, no contact via phone calls, e-mails, voicemails, text messages, letters, cards, gifts, social network messages, or any other medium of communication or contact. This also includes both direct communication and indirect communication, i.e., you may not use other people or social networking sites as a means of communication. A “no contact” order is an administrative order. Violations of the “no contact” order are subject to the student or employee conduct policy and procedures. You may telephone the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities at 480-965-9170 to report a violation of a “no contact” order. A reported violation of a “no-contact” order will be reviewed by Student Rights and Responsibilities and a determination made.

Interim and other protective measures

When determined appropriate, the university will take interim measures designed to support and protect individuals and the university community. Such interim measures might include restrictions on contact, class or work schedule alterations, leaves or excused absences, increased safety measures, student housing changes, or course/class academic adjustments.

If it is ultimately determined that university policy has been violated, then these measures may also become part of any permanent administrative/disciplinary action against the violator. Factors that might be considered during the determination of interim measures process include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Severity or pervasiveness of the allegations.
- Any continuing effects on the complainant.
- Effect interim measure(s) will have on protecting the complainant's and respondent's respective educational and work opportunities.
- Whether the complainant and alleged respondent share the same residence hall, dining hall, class, transportation or job location.
- Whether other judicial measures have been taken to address the reported conduct (e.g., civil order of protection or an injunction against harassment).

Even if a victim elects not to report an incident of alleged sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking to campus police or local law enforcement, ASU can identify supportive measures to support the victim.

ASU will provide written notification to victims about options, available assistance, and how to request changes to academic situations, living situations, transportation and working situations. The notification will also address the availability of protective measures. Even if a victim chooses not to report to the police, the police department victim advocate can provide confidential assistance with creating a personal safety plan. Contact the ASU Victim-Survivor Services at 480-727-5167.

ASU provides respondents with information regarding applicable University processes as well as available support resources.

ASU will provide written notification to a victim about the options mentioned above. ASU will maintain as confidential any accommodations or protective measures provided to the victim, to the extent that maintaining such confidentiality will not impair ASU's ability to provide the accommodation or protective measures as stated in the section on Reporting Crimes and Incidents and Institutional Reporting. If an individual requests anonymity after a report is filed, the Title IX Coordinator will consider the request, the due process rights of all parties involved, the severity of any alleged harassment, and the potential risk of a hostile environment for others in the community in order to determine whether the request can be honored. The requesting party will be advised of the determination.

ASU also provides written notification to students and employees about existing counseling, health, mental health, victim advocacy, legal assistance, visa and immigration assistance, student financial aid, and other services available for victims both within the university and in the community. Information about resources can be obtained at <https://sexualviolenceprevention.asu.edu/>.

Additionally, when a student or employee reports that he or she has been a victim of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, whether the offense occurred on- or off-campus, ASU will provide the student or employee with a written explanation of their rights and options.

ASU provides respondents with information regarding applicable University processes as well as available support resources.

University complaint and conduct proceedings for students and employees in cases involving sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking

In cases of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking, ASU provides prompt, fair, and impartial proceedings, which include a fact-finding investigation, meetings, and may include an administrative hearing before the University Hearing Board or other hearing opportunity as identified in applicable policy.

A written explanation of rights and options is provided as part of the administrative process. The process for filing a report against a student and the various steps in the report review process are found in the Student Code of Conduct¹¹ and the Student Code of Conduct Procedures. The process for filing a formal Title IX complaint against a student and the various steps in the formal complaint process are found in university policy ACD 401: Prohibition Against Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation and P20a: Interim Grievance Process for Formal Complaints of Title IX Sexual Harassment.

Filing an allegation of misconduct against a student can be done by completing the Incident Report and submitting it via email to deanofstudents@asu.edu, or by dropping it off at the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities on any ASU campus. A formal Title IX complaint can be filed with the Title IX Coordinator at titleIXCoordinator@asu.edu.

Summary of Rights of the Respondent and Complainant in Investigations of University Policy

Administrative proceedings shall be conducted by officials who do not have a conflict of interest or bias for or against the complainant or the respondent. Proceedings also shall be conducted by officials who receive annual training on issues related to sexual assault, dating violence and domestic violence and stalking. Investigators receive annual training on investigating Title IX matters. ASU staff who conduct proceedings receive training on how to investigate and administer a hearing process that is prompt, fair, and equitable. This training includes, but is not limited to, determining relevant evidence and how it should be used during a proceeding; avoiding conflicts of interest; understanding sexual misconduct; overview of Title IX sexual harassment, overview of the Clery Act as amended by VAWA; investigations and report writing; and adjudications. Training for ASU staff who conduct proceedings related to formal complaints of Title IX sexual harassment can be found at <https://www.asu.edu/titleIX/>. The investigation of a formal Title IX complaint will be concluded as soon as practical after receipt. The complainant and respondent should be provided updates on the progress of the investigation and issuance of the report. In these proceedings, complainant and respondent will be:

- Given an equal opportunity to participate in the investigation process, including the opportunity to identify witnesses and other relevant evidence;
- Informed of the applicable university policies and procedures as well as the nature and extent of the alleged violations contained within the report;
- Informed of the right to be accompanied by an advisor of the individual's choosing during all meetings, proceedings, and/or disciplinary hearings at which the individual is present;
- Notified of available counseling, mental health, academic, legal and other applicable support services, both at the university and in the community;
- Notification that the respondent to a formal Title IX complaint is presumed not responsible for the alleged conduct and that the determination regarding responsibility is made at the conclusion of the grievance process;

- Informed simultaneously, in writing, of the outcome of any disciplinary proceeding, the university's procedures for the complainant and the respondent to appeal the results of the conduct proceeding (if an appeal process applies), any change to the results that occurs before the time the results become final, and when the results become final, the rationale for the decision.

The purpose of an investigation, which includes interviewing the parties and witnesses, and in the cases of a formal Title IX complaint a live hearing, is to gather and assess evidence. The standard of evidence used in investigating and adjudicating complaints is the "preponderance of the evidence" standard. This standard is met if the allegation is deemed more likely than not to have occurred. Investigators and decision-makers shall have appropriate training regarding this standard.

ASU will, upon written request, disclose to the alleged victim of a crime of violence (as that term is defined in 18 U.S.C. § 16), or an incident of incest or statutory rape, the results of any disciplinary proceeding against the respondent student alleged to have committed such offense. If the alleged victim is deceased as a result of such crime or offense, the victim's next of kin shall be treated as the alleged victim.

University responses to alleged policy violations

Sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking are criminal acts that carry criminal and civil penalties under state and/or federal law. Such conduct is also contrary to ASU policy and can lead to the imposition of educational interventions, administrative actions, and/or disciplinary sanctions to address the conduct, depending on the individual facts and circumstances of the case.

University students found responsible for violating the Student Code of Conduct may be subject to one or more of the following:

- Administrative actions include probation, warning, administrative hold, restricted access to university property, and interim actions such as interim suspension, removal from housing, or exclusion from one or more classes.
- Disciplinary sanctions include suspension, expulsion, or degree revocation.
- Educational interventions include completing an educational program at the student's expense, writing a paper, engaging in community service, or any other assignment to address the student's conduct.

University faculty, staff and students found responsible for violating university policy may be subject to discipline up to and including termination/expulsion.

Arizona Board of Regents policy provides that any student suspended or expelled from Arizona State University, the University of Arizona, or Northern Arizona University is ineligible for admission, enrollment, or re-enrollment to ASU, UA, or NAU and requires the universities to notify one another of students that have been suspended or expelled.

ABOR has authorized the universities to adopt rules and procedures for considering a request for readmission. In the case of suspension from ASU, when the time of suspension is nearing the end, the student desiring to return to ASU must reapply for admission. Before readmission to ASU is granted, the suspended student must meet with a Student Rights and Responsibilities staff member. At that point, conditions for readmission and additional requirements may be set, e.g., counseling and/or training. ASU will not grant readmission to an expelled student.

ASU employees, including student workers, found responsible for committing such conduct may face sanctions including, but not limited to, written reprimand, demotion, suspension (up to 30 days), termination of employment, or other action permissible under university policy.

Retaliation

ASU prohibits retaliation by its officers, employees, students, representatives, or agents against a person who exercises his or her rights or responsibilities under any provision of the Campus SaVE Act. No one may retaliate, intimidate, threaten, coerce, or otherwise discriminate against any individual for exercising his or her rights or responsibilities under the Act. Retaliation is also prohibited under ABOR 5-308: Student Code of Conduct, and ACD 401: Prohibition Against Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation.

Sexual violence crime prevention programs

ASU Police, the Dean of Students Office, and other campus departments provide ongoing educational programming in the effort to reduce the risk of sexual violence. Beginning with summer orientation and continuing throughout the year, new and returning students are provided the opportunity to attend educational presentations related to sexual violence prevention and survival. To learn more, contact the ASU Police Crime Prevention Unit at 480-965-1972 or via email at ASUPolice@asu.edu, or refer to https:// sexualviolenceprevention.asu.edu/.

The ASU Police Crime Prevention Unit implemented a nationally recognized self-defense program, the Rape Aggression Defense System. R.A.D. is a 12-hour training course designed to maximize the physical defense abilities of women and men. Unlike other self-defense programs, R.A.D. teaches basic, practical techniques that require no special fitness level or equipment. The program's objective is to help people develop and enhance the options of self-defense should they choose to fight back while being attacked. ASU Police recognizes that not every tactic will work in every situation and that a person has the right to choose to comply rather than fight back. The goal is to train participants to fight back effectively should they so choose. Participants have the opportunity to test their newly learned defensive strategies during simulated attack scenarios. The R.A.D. program is an alliance of instructors who can assist one another with programs, equipment, experiences and insight. Most importantly, they allow every participant a lifetime return and practice invitation, at no charge; anywhere a R.A.D. program is offered.

ASU provides education addressing sexual violence and consent in a variety of formats. Information and resources are available online, and presentations are available on a variety of topics. A full list of presentations is provided in the Ongoing Prevention and Awareness Campaigns section of this document.

Sexual violence crime prevention tips

- Bystanders: Intervene if you see something happening that could lead to sexual violence. If you don't feel safe intervening on your own, call 911. Some signs to look out for include incapacitation, physical force, threats of violence, or coercion.
- Clearly communicate your sexual interests and boundaries with potential partners.
- Consistently check in with your partner to ensure consent has been given for each sexual act.
- If you drink alcohol, do so in moderation, recognizing that alcohol and drugs limit your ability to make good decisions for yourself and others.
- Nine out of 10 college student victims of sexual assault knew their assailant. Perpetrators often use coercion, threats, isolation, and intimidation on their victims.
- Sexual violence can happen to anyone, and it is never the victim's fault. If you or a friend has experienced sexual violence, visit the Sexual Violence Prevention website to learn what you can do: https:// sexualviolenceprevention.asu.edu/.
- State clearly, emphatically and forcefully if consent is not given.

Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act | information on sex offenders

The Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act mandates that convicted sex offenders who are required to register under state law must also disclose their association with institutions of higher education when applicable.

Specifically affected are those registered sex offenders who attend as students, are employed by or employed at, or volunteer at institutions of higher education. The CSCPA amends the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 to clarify that nothing in FERPA can prohibit an educational institution from disclosing information provided to the institution concerning registered sex offenders.

The Arizona Department of Public Safety has established the Arizona Sex Offender Info Center according to the requirements of A.R.S. § 13-3827. Arizona DPS is responsible for maintaining the site and annually verifying the addresses of registered sex offenders in the State of Arizona. For more information, visit https:// www.azdps.gov/services/public/offender.

In California, a convicted sex offender must register with the chief of police in the city in which the sex offender resides. For information about sex offenders in California, visit <https://www.meganslaw.ca.gov/Disclaimer>

In Washington D.C., a convicted sex offender must register with the Metropolitan Police Department. For information about sex offenders in Washington, D.C., visit <https://mpdc.dc.gov/service/sex-offender-registry>.

ASU Police, in conjunction with Arizona DPS and the Maricopa County Sheriff's Office, will notify the campus community of a registered sex offender, as required by law. For the District of Columbia, Lake Havasu, Los Angeles and Tucson, primary notification is completed by the local law enforcement.

Sexual assault and violence support services

If an incident of sexual misconduct or sexual or relationship violence occurs, options to report the incident, receive confidential support and immediate assistance are available through on-campus and off-campus resources. We strive to locate resources that are inclusive of ASU's diverse student community. In order to ensure all members of our community have access to health and safety resources, ASU employees are mandatory reporters and must report allegations of sexual assault/harassment. You can find information about confidential resources on the Sexual Violence Awareness, Prevention and Response resources webpage, <https://sexualviolenceprevention.asu.edu/resources>, or by visiting the confidential support page.

Resources may be available both in-person and virtually. If you need assistance navigating the resources, you can reach out to The Office of Advocacy and Assistance or if you would like to speak to someone confidentially, you can reach out to an ASU Victim-Survivor Services.

Missing student notification policy

In compliance with the Higher Education Opportunity Act, the university has established a Missing Student Notification Policy that describes the formal notification procedure to be followed when a student residing in on-campus housing has been reported missing for more than 24 hours. An on-campus student housing facility is defined as any student housing facility that is owned or controlled by the institution or is located on property that is owned or controlled by the institution and is within the reasonably contiguous geographic area that makes up the campus. The ASU Downtown Phoenix, ASU Polytechnic, ASU Tempe, ASU West Valley, and ASU at Lake Havasu are the only campuses that have on-campus student housing facilities.

If you have reason to believe that a student who lives in on-campus student housing has been missing from campus for 24 hours, or less if suspicious circumstances exist, contact ASU Police at 480-965-3456.

Anyone at ASU who receives a report of a missing student must immediately contact ASU Police at 480-965-3456. If ASU Police receive a report of a missing student from a campus not within its jurisdiction, it must immediately notify the appropriate law enforcement agency.

For the ASU at Lake Havasu, contact the Lake Havasu Police Department at 928-855-1171. After contacting the Lake Havasu City Police Department, also notify campus security for ASU at Lake Havasu at 760-556-0354.

University Housing, in consultation with ASU Police or another law enforcement agency as appropriate, along with the Dean of Students or their designees, shall make the official determination that a student is missing. To determine that a student is not missing, ASU staff or law enforcement must contact the student. Third-party reports that the student has been located will not be accepted.

Each ASU student residing in on-campus housing may register one or more individuals to be an emergency contact strictly for missing person's purposes. This registration is done during the on-campus housing move-in process. A student's missing person contact information will be maintained confidentially by University Housing and will only be accessed by authorized campus officials. Those officials may disclose the contact information only to law enforcement officials and only for a missing student investigation.

If a student has registered a missing person contact, ASU will notify the contact no later than 24 hours after it has been officially determined that the student has been missing. For students under the age of 18 and not emancipated, ASU will notify the student's custodial parent or guardian, as well as any other registered missing person contact, no later than 24 hours after a student is deemed missing. Regardless of whether the student has registered a contact person, ASU will also notify the local law enforcement agency that has jurisdiction in the area within 24 hours after a student is deemed missing.

To view the policy, see SSM 1001-07: Missing Student Notification Policy

Timely warnings and emergency notifications

Timely Warnings | ASU Crime Alert

ASU Police issue timely warnings in the form of ASU Crime Alerts to the campus community. The purpose of a Timely Warning is to notify the campus community of a criminal incident and provide information that enable members of the community to take steps to protect themselves and aid in prevention of similar crimes.

The Clery Timely Warning/ASU Crime Alert notify students, faculty, and staff of the occurrence of a Clery Act crime within the university's defined Clery Act geography that poses a serious or ongoing threat to the campus community.

ASU Police is responsible for determining if a timely warning will be issued once notified a Clery Act crime has been reported to a campus security authority, local law enforcement, or directly to ASU Police. ASU Police is not required to issue a timely warning for crimes reported to a pastoral or professional counselor.

The decision whether to issue a Timely Warning is made on a case-by-case basis and includes factors such as the nature of the crime, whether a continuing danger to the campus community exists, and the possible risk of compromising law enforcement efforts. The University may issue a Timely Warning for the certain crimes, including arson, aggravated assault, criminal homicide, motor vehicle theft; robbery, burglary, sexual assault, hate crimes, and stalking. Timely warnings may also be issued for other crimes as deemed necessary.

The Clery Timely Warning may provide details of the crime or threat, a description of the suspect (if known), information on whom to contact about the investigation, and crime prevention tips. It may also seek information that may lead to an arrest of an offender.

ASU Police works closely with individuals reporting serious crimes to ensure the victim's privacy, while also ensuring the community has adequate information regarding potential risks. The names and identifying information of victims will not be released in a Clery Timely Warning.

The Clery Timely Warning are disseminated using a variety of methods, which includes at a minimum, mass email and posting to the ASU Police website. All ASU email addresses are automatically subscribed to receive ASU Crime Alerts via email. In addition, information may be shared using the following methods:

- ASU homepage messages.
- ASU LiveSafe mobile app | available through the App Store, Google Play or the ASU Police website.
- ASU Police media notification system.
- Facebook, X(Twitter) and Instagram posts | @ASUPolice.
- Text messages.

ASU Police and security at Lake Havasu have requested cooperation from local law enforcement by asking to be kept apprised of crimes that warrant a timely warning or an emergency notification. As a result, information for ASU Crime Alerts may come from other law enforcement agencies.

Likewise, ASU Police and security personnel at ASU's Los Angeles, California; Tucson, Arizona and Washington, D.C. campuses have requested cooperation from local law enforcement by asking to be kept apprised of crimes that warrant a timely warning or an emergency notification. In Tucson, Arizona; Los Angeles, California and Washington, D.C., the local law enforcement agencies with primary jurisdiction for the ASU campuses will issue alerts for crimes determined to pose a threat to the community. ASU Police monitors the applicable law enforcement alerts to assess if they impact the campus community and whether a Clery Timely Warning ASU Crime Alert is warranted for the campus community.

Emergency notifications

Emergency Notification

Emergency notification is triggered by an event that is currently occurring on, or imminently threatening, the campus. It is the university's policy to immediately notify the campus community of any confirmed significant emergency or dangerous situation posing a threat to the health, or safety of students, faculty, or staff, including but not limited to, dangerous weather conditions, armed intruders, terrorist incidents, outbreaks of life-threatening communicable diseases, fire, or hazardous material releases. The intent of emergency notification is to provide information that enables members of the community to protect themselves.

Confirming the Existence of Significant Emergency or Dangerous Situation and Initiating the Emergency Notification system

The ASU Police Chief or designee will confirm that a significant emergency or dangerous situation exists, through notifications from 9-1-1 calls or from personal observations by its officers, the sworn police officers of another agency, or other security personnel. Other departments at ASU, such as Environmental Health and Safety may also confirm a significant emergency.

For emergency responses to fires and ill or injured persons, ASU relies upon the municipal Fire Department emergency services in the city where each campus is located. Therefore, the Incident Commander may be a member of the local fire department. They will use the Incident Command System but follow their own agency's policies and procedures while responding to an emergency. An Incident Commander has the authority on the scene and should be consulted to determine the content of the notification. There are other local, county, state and federal agencies that may be consulted during an emergency, such as the National Weather Service, during a dangerous weather event, or the Public Health Department to confirm a serious virus outbreak.

Without delay, and as soon as information is confirmed, while taking into account the safety of the community, ASU Police Chief or designee will initiate the notification system, unless doing so will, based on the chief or the designee's professional judgment, compromise efforts to assist a victim or to contain, respond to or otherwise mitigate the emergency.

ASU Police work closely with surrounding police agencies to help facilitate the sharing of incidents reported to them that might constitute the issuance of an emergency notification.

Determining the Appropriate Segment or Segments of the Campus Community to Receive an Emergency Notification

The ASU Police Chief or designee will determine what segment of the campus community will receive the notification based on the nature, severity, and location of the emergency. The same procedures will be used to notify the larger campus community.

If the incident is a large-scale emergency, as determined by the incident commander — typically, the top fire or police official at the scene — the incident commander will be responsible for making these decisions. The entire campus community will be notified when there is at least the potential that a very large segment of the campus community will be affected by a situation, or when a situation threatens the operation of the campus as a whole. There will be a continual assessment of the situation, and if it is warranted, additional segments of the campus community may be notified.

Disseminating Information to the Community

The Emergency notification system's purpose is to provide brief and immediate instructions to the campus community and to provide other resources where additional information can be obtained. ASU issues emergency notifications in form of an ASU Alert. All ASU email addresses are automatically subscribed to receive emailed emergency notifications.

During an emergency, detailed information about an incident may be provided in other forms of communication, such as

- ASU LiveSafe mobile app | available through the App Store, Google Play or the ASU Police website.
- ASU homepage messages.
- ASU NEWS page messages.
- Social media, such as Facebook and X(Twitter) posts | @ASUPolice
- Mass email
- Emergency bulletins issued through the media.
- Hotline
- Notification on the official ASU website.
- Text messages

Follow up messages will be sent as needed. All clear notifications/messaging will be sent to signify the conclusion of the ASU Alert.

Drills and Exercises

The Emergency Management Group designs, develops, and delivers community-involved exercises intended to test and update response plans and coordination at least annually. Post exercise, an after action report is developed and distributed with improvement items that are monitored by the Emergency Management Group in accordance with the Homeland Security Exercise and Evaluation Program (HSEEP).

Testing

A test of the procedures shall be conducted at least once each calendar year. One test each year will include a link to the ASU Emergency Notification and Clery Timely Warning Policy PDP 101-03 and the ASU Emergency Response Guide, both of which are available online. An actual incident in which the emergency notification system was activated shall not qualify as a test under this policy. Each test/incident shall be documented to include a description of the exercise/emergency, date, time, and whether announced or unannounced. Residence halls will have evacuation procedures and tests/drills at least semi-annually.

The Emergency Notification and Clery Timely Warning Policy PDP 101-03 is available. To learn more about the university's emergency notification and advisory service, visit <https://cfo.asu.edu/livesafe-mobile-app> and <https://cfo.asu.edu/alerts-and-advisories-faqs>.

ASU Police has mutual aid agreements with surrounding police agencies and cooperates with these agencies to share information during emergencies or situations that may warrant an emergency response.

Cell phone users may register their cell phone or voice-over IP systems to receive Maricopa Region emergency notifications. Register your phone at <https://www.maricopa.gov/1755/CENS>

Lake Havasu City uses the Lake Havasu Mobile App, department website, social media accounts, and news media to send emergency notifications.

The District of Columbia uses AlertDC to send alerts, notifications, and updates via email or text, and users can specify the method(s) in which they want to receive the alerts and types of alerts. Enroll online to receive D.C. alerts here <https://hsema.dc.gov/page/alertdc> or download the Everbridge app through the App Store or Google Play.

The City of Los Angeles provides the community with emergency, outreach, public safety notices, and severe traffic warnings through the Notify LA alert system. Alerts can be received via phone call, email, or text, and users can specify the method(s) in which they are received. Users can also subscribe to receive alerts specific to their neighborhood, schools, businesses, media, and other interest areas. Enroll online to receive Notify LA alerts here, <https://member.everbridge.net/453003085619167/new> or download the Everbridge app through the App Store and Google Play.

ASU Police monitors these alerts to assess if they impact the campus community and whether an emergency notification is warranted.

Emergency response and evacuation procedures

University community assistants and University Housing staff receive training each year. Training includes a review of fire safety components to their building, staff expectations, evacuation procedures and their role, fire safety policies, and emergency assistance procedures. Staff are also advised of what to expect during the annual fire safety inspection process. Additionally, ASU EHS Fire Safety and Prevention staff are available throughout the year to educate employees on fire safety issues or concerns. At the start of the fall semester, community assistants shall review evacuation procedures with residents during floor meetings. Fire drills are conducted four times annually at varying times to test evacuation procedures; they may be announced or unannounced.

The EHS Fire Safety and Prevention office conducts high-risk (annual) inspections of residence halls at the ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses to check for fire and life safety code compliance violations.

For the ASU at Lake Havasu, the ASU EHS Fire Safety and Prevention office, in partnership with the Lake Havasu Fire Department, and the local management company, completes fire and life safety inspections. Noted violations are addressed, and the resident is advised of the purpose of the policy.

Emergencies, disasters, accidents, injuries, and crimes can occur without warning. Being prepared to handle unexpected emergencies is an individual, as well as an organizational responsibility. The Emergency Response Quick Guide (<https://cfo.asu.edu/emergency>) is available to all students, staff, faculty, and visitors to assist in response to any incident. Please review this guide thoroughly before an emergency occurs. Acquaint yourself with the contents and keep it handy. Preparedness is often defined by how well you respond to and recover from an incident; be prepared.

Faculty, graduate students, teaching assistants, and staff review the Classroom Emergency Procedures Guidelines³³ document during the first class meeting, and it can also be located online.

Once an emergency has been confirmed, ASU and emergency responders will use the National Incident Management System (NIMS) to respond. NIMS is a Federal Emergency Management Agency program, which establishes a comprehensive approach to incident management and applies to emergencies of all types and sizes. The NIMS approach is intended to be both scalable and standardized to provide a coordinated, efficient response to each incident. Within NIMS, the Incident Command System provides a consistent chain of command, which has an Incident Commander as its leader. It may also have a multi-agency team, which is called Unified Command. This standardized system allows responding organizations to work effectively because they are using the same terminology to communicate and coordinate their response.

In the event of an emergency, ASU activates the Incident Management Team which includes, but not limited to, a Behavior Response Team, a campus-specific Emergency Response Team, the Executive Team and the President's Policy Group. To support these groups, a command post, bridge line, or the emergency operations center will be activated. ASU provides in-house training through the Office of Preparedness and Security Initiatives.

ASU regularly communicates with many non-governmental agencies, such as local power companies, water access and control agencies, hospitals, etc., by participating in preparedness organizations like the East and West Valley Emergency Management meetings, county and state preparedness summits, exercises, and a host of other gatherings.

Interaction with local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies occurs regularly. For example, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Arizona Department of Public Safety, the City of Tempe Police Department, and several other agencies participate in planning meetings for on-site operations during all home ASU football games and other special events on or near ASU campuses.

In an emergency:

1. A university official confirms an incident; he or she contacts the police.
2. Police evacuate the affected area or direct people to shelter-in-place; students, employees and visitors will be directed to a safe place.
3. Police set up perimeters to ensure students and employees are not entering an unsafe area and to allow for emergency response vehicles and personnel to handle the situation.
4. Police or Incident Management Team (IMT) activate for the affected campus.
5. The first emergency operations brief is conducted to determine the scope of the incident and resource needs in accordance with NIMS-ICS best practices.

6. Departments activate a continuity of operation plan as needed.
7. The situation is contained by police and/or fire.
8. Police sends an all-clear message to the community and recovery begins.

The university relies on the municipal fire department in the city where each campus is located. Therefore, during a fire, hazardous material situation, or medical emergency, the Incident Commander may be a member of the local fire department. The IC will use the Incident Command System but will follow his or her own agency's policies and procedures when responding to an emergency. Other local, county, state, and federal agencies may be consulted during an emergency, e.g., the Public Health Department consulted to confirm a serious virus outbreak.

For emergency and evacuation procedures, evacuation instructions, and shelter-in-place procedures, refer to the Annual Fire Safety Report.

Security and access to campus buildings and grounds

As a public university, many ASU areas are accessible to the general public 24 hours a day. Consequently, regardless of the time of day or campus location, be alert and aware of your surroundings and exercise personal safety at all times.

Electronic card access

As part of admission, all students must obtain an ASU student photo identification, the Sun Card. The ISAAC and Transaction Services Program provides university electronic card access via the Sun Card. Electronic access logging data is used strictly for investigative incident management or may be anonymized for general reporting. It is prohibited for tracking individuals. All who manage the ISAAC system must comply with all acts associated with personal information outlined in the door access guidelines, procedures, and standards available on the ASU website <https://cfo.asu.edu/door-access-standards>.

ASU in Washington, D.C. uses the ISAAC system. For system assistance, contact the security desk in the lobby or call 202-446-0380.

The ASU California Center uses the ISAAC system. For system assistance, contact the facilities and operations manager in the office or call 213-510-6898.

ASU School of Social Work Tucson uses the ISAAC system. For system assistance, contact the Administrative Assistant in the front office or call 520-884-5507.

Lost campus keys or access cards

If your campus keys/access cards are lost or stolen, report it immediately to your department and ASU Key and Lock Services by calling 480-965-3456 and to ISAAC and Transaction Services Program desk at 480-727-1327 to turn off card access.

- At ASU in Washington, D.C., report lost keys or access cards to the security desk in the lobby or call 202-446-0380.
- At the ASU California Center, report lost keys or access cards to the operations manager located at the California Center or call 213-510-6898.
- At ASU at Lake Havasu, report lost keys or access cards to administrative staff in Santiago Hall or call 928-854-9705.
- At ASU School of Social Work Tucson, report lost keys or access cards to the Administrative Assistant in the front office or call 520-884-5507.

Video security

Video surveillance of university areas is intended to deter and detect crime and assist in protecting the safety and property of the ASU community. Security cameras require maintenance by a central enterprise application, database, and private network and must meet the policy requirements in PDP 201-06: Governing Electronic Safety and Security Systems.

Non-residential buildings

Most campus buildings and facilities are open during regular business hours during the day and evening when classes are in session or other events are occurring. At other times, university buildings are generally locked, and only faculty, staff, students and authorized individuals are admitted. Do not leave doors propped open or unlocked after hours.

The Academic Building Security program was started in 1998 to add a higher level of security to the academic buildings. Police aides patrol the academic buildings on foot on ASU campuses in the Phoenix metropolitan area. Police aides assist the patrol officers with their duties and provide, when available, safety escorts for university community members. Police aides help keep the community safe by serving as the “eyes and ears” of the department.

For ASU in Washington, D.C., the ASU California Center, and ASU at Lake Havasu, security patrols are completed by onsite contracted security and employees functioning in that capacity.

Residential buildings

Approximately 11,199 students live on the ASU Tempe campus, 1,601 on the ASU Downtown Phoenix campus, 851 on the ASU Polytechnic campus, 564 on the ASU West Valley campus, 61 at ASU at Lake Havasu, and 61 students residing in Broadway Palace at the ASU California Center campus. University Housing manages the residential facilities at the ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses and Havasu Hospitality Partners, LLC., manages the Lake Havasu facilities. Access to all ASU residential facilities is restricted to residents and their guests. Residents are expected to comply with the hall visitation policy, to lock doors when leaving rooms, to close and lock outside doors when found open, to use only designated entrances to the facilities, and to deny entrance to non-residents and uninvited guests. Non-compliance of these guidelines should be reported to residence hall staff immediately.

Access to most residential facilities is governed by a minimum two-part process. The Lenel ISAAC system secures outside and building perimeters of most residence halls via electronic locks and can only be accessed by a valid Sun Card. Students' ISAAC system access is governed by their confirmed booking status in the University Housing management software. Individual units are additionally secured by a unique key issued to the student upon check-in. Vendors and affiliates are escorted when on the property or when issued a temporary access card. Any temporary access granted is authorized by University Housing and controlled and audited daily. Upon expiration of the contract term or the student checking out of the housing unit, ISAAC access is deactivated. Any outstanding keys are reported as missing and the unit is rekeyed. Students are required to sign a housing license agreement acknowledging the above policy.

Police aide patrols provide additional security for students and staff at ASU campuses in the Phoenix metropolitan area. The coordinated efforts of police patrols, police aide patrols, security officer patrols, and University Housing staff help promote and increase safety awareness. Information about security measures at individual campuses is available through the hall staff or from offices identified in this document.

Contracted security provides security for the students and staff at ASU at Lake Havasu.

ASU does not have residential buildings located at ASU in Washington, D.C. or ASU School of Social Work Tucson.

ASU Campus Maintenance

ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses

The ASU Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses are maintained by ASU Facilities Development and Management. FDM maintains and responds to reports of malfunctioning equipment within campus buildings and residence halls.

In addition to regular maintenance checks, ASU Police, Disability Resource Center, Educational Outreach and Student Services, FDM and Undergraduate Student Government representatives conduct campus-wide safety walks of Phoenix metro campuses twice annually. As a group, they walk the campuses identifying safety issues including, but not limited to, lighting, overgrown vegetation, disability access, building access, and hazardous environmental conditions.

To foster a safe campus environment, ASU Police periodically consults with FDM about the maintenance and location of landscaping, foliage, and exterior lighting. To report deficiencies or request service, visit <https://cfo.asu.edu/requests-for-service>. For urgent on-campus facility needs in the Phoenix metropolitan area, call 480-965-3633 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Weapons prohibited on campus

The use, possession, or storage of any weapon is prohibited in any ASU residential facilities, on land and in buildings owned, leased, or under the control of Arizona State University or its affiliated or related entities, in all ASU vehicles, and at all ASU or ASU affiliate-sponsored events and activities, except as provided for in Arizona Revised Statutes A.R.S. § 12-781. All prohibitions also apply to the ASU campuses in California and Washington D.C.

ASU students and employees are required to report known and suspected violations of the weapons policy to ASU Police immediately.

- For ASU in Washington, D.C., violations must be reported to the security desk.
- For the ASU California Center, violations should be reported to the ASU California Center security desk.
- For ASU at Lake Havasu, violations should be reported to security staff.
- For ASU School of Social Work Tucson, violations should be reported to the administrative assistant during business hours at 520-884-5507, and security personnel after-hours.

In addition to any sanctions available under applicable law, violations of this policy may result in sanctions under applicable Arizona Board of Regents (ABOR) and/or ASU policies governing student and employee conduct. For more information, see PDP 201-05 Weapons, Explosives, and Fireworks, ABOR 5-308: Student Code of Conduct, and ABOR 5-303 Prohibited Conduct

Definitions and restrictions

“Weapon” refers to any object or substance designed to (or which could be reasonably expected to) inflict a wound, cause injury, incapacitate, or cause death, including, without limitation, all firearms (loaded and unloaded, simulated and real), devices designed to expel a projectile (such as bb guns, air guns, pellet guns, and potato guns), swords, knives with blades of 5 inches or longer, martial art weapons, bows and arrows, and chemicals such as tear gas. Personal safety devices (such as over-the-counter mace and pepper spray, key ring defensive tools) are not included in the definition of “weapon”.

In California, it is also unlawful to possess, on a university campus, a knife with a blade length over 2.5 inches, a dirk, a dagger, or an ice pick. A dirk or dagger means a knife or instrument with or without a handguard that is capable or ready use as a stabbing weapon that may inflict great bodily injury or death. PEN § 626.9-10.

Washington D.C. has strict gun laws, even off campus. A person may not lawfully possess an unregistered firearm. D.C. Code § 22-4514.

Hate crimes

Hate crimes are not separate, distinct crimes, but instead involve any traditional criminal offense that is committed against a person or property that is motivated by a victim's actual or perceived race, religion, ethnicity, national origin, gender identity, or sexual orientation. ASU takes a strong stance against hate crimes, violent acts, property damage, intimidation, and threats because of a person's perceived personal characteristics.

In accordance with the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, hate groups and individuals have the right to exist, assemble, and express their views. However, they do not have the right to break any laws.

Any speech that threatens violence or physical harm to specific persons or groups may constitute a crime. Most verbal and written expression is constitutionally protected, so racial slurs or derogatory speech is not enough to be considered a crime.

Hate crimes will not be tolerated or dismissed as "pranks" or "bad behavior." Hate crimes should be reported to the appropriate university departments and organizations so proper follow-through can occur. Immediately report any hate crime incident.

Witness a hate crime?

Reporting hate crime is a key part of stopping such acts. If you or someone you know reports a hate crime, the matter will be taken seriously. A thorough investigation will be conducted and, if evidence warrants, administrative and/or criminal proceedings will follow.

If you witness a hate crime, call 911 immediately. If no weapon is present and there is no threat to life safety, contact the corresponding campus police department.

Disciplinary action: students, staff, and faculty

Students

Guided by ASU's commitment to excellence, access, and impact, the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities (SRR) supports a safe and inclusive environment that fosters the intellectual, personal, social, and ethical development of all students. In partnership with university departments and programs, SRR helps students see themselves as responsible members in a diverse community. SRR provides students with the opportunity to consider how their conduct may define and impact their college experience — personally and in a relationship with others.

SRR investigates student misconduct allegations and determines whether a violation of the ABOR 5-308: Student Code of Conduct has occurred. Students who are found responsible for violations of the Student Code of Conduct are encouraged to reflect on their behaviors by using educationally-based interventions that assist the students in making informed choices and developing in a holistic manner⁴¹.

Incident reports are accepted from students, faculty, staff, or other persons who believe a student or student organization may have violated the ABOR Student Code of Conduct. Fill out and submit the incident report to the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities on the respective campus <https://eoss.asu.edu/dos/srr/filingreport>. No appointment is required to pick up or drop off an incident report.

For ASU in Washington, D.C., ASU California Center, ASU at Lake Havasu and ASU School of Social Work Tucson, complete the incident report and submit it online.

SRR staff may also initiate a review under the Student Code of Conduct based on police reports, applicable news stories, or other forms of documentation. ASU consistently meets weekly with Tempe Police to identify students involved in off-campus criminal conduct, including criminal conduct arising out of the off-campus activities of those student organizations officially recognized by the university, including student organizations with off-campus housing facilities.

Additionally, any relevant information about any student, found in the course of a review, may also be deemed a complaint and may be pursued accordingly under the ABOR Students Code of Conduct. The ABOR Student Code of Conduct and Student Code of Conduct Procedures are available online.

Faculty and staff

ABOR and ASU policy violations may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination for staff and faculty and are further defined in the following policies: SPP 808: Performance Management for University Staff; SPP 809: Discipline; ABOR 6-201: Conditions of Faculty Service; ABOR 6-302: Conditions of Service for Academic Professionals.

The Office of University Rights and Responsibilities is available to investigate and resolve allegations of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation in violation of ACD 401: Prohibition Against Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation (including all forms of sexual misconduct involving faculty, staff, and other ASU affiliates). All complaints of such conduct are taken seriously, and appropriate action will be taken to hold violators accountable and to prevent any recurrence.

The employee grievance process is fully explained in ASU policies ACD 509-02: Grievance Policy for Faculty, ACD 509-03: Grievance Policy for Academic Professionals, and P20: Prohibition Against Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation: Report and Investigation Procedure.

Arizona State University policy on substance abuse

Under the federal Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Amendments of 1989, no institution of higher education is eligible to receive funds or any other form of financial assistance under any federal program, including any federally funded or guaranteed student loan program, unless it has adopted and implemented a program to prevent the use of illicit drugs and abuse of alcohol by students and employees. See ASU's Statement on Drug-Free Schools and Campuses, and ASU's Drug and Alcohol Prevention Programs in Appendix A.

To achieve this goal, ASU prohibits the unlawful use, possession, production, manufacture, and distribution of alcohol, controlled substances, and other drugs SSM 106-03: Alcohol and Other Drugs on Campus, SPP315: Drug-Free Workplace, ACD 119: Drug-Free Workplace Requirements, and ACD 122: Drug-Free Campus Environment. This includes, but is not limited to, a prohibition on the possession and consumption of alcohol in university housing.

ASU Police enforces Arizona's laws against underage drinking, public consumption, and furnishing alcohol to underage individuals. See A.R.S. § 4-241, A.R.S. § 4-244, and A.R.S. § 4-246. California and Washington, D.C. also have similar, tough alcohol laws regarding underage drinking and furnishing alcohol to underage individuals. See CA Business and Professional Codes § 25658 and § 25662; CA Penal Code § 647; CA Vehicle Code § 21200.5 and § 23136; see also, D.C. Code § 25-1001 and § 25-1002; and D.C. Code § 25-781 and § 25-785.

Arizona, California, and Washington, D.C. have some of the toughest drug laws in the country. ASU Police enforce all state drug laws as provided in the ASU Police Service Manual. Information on Arizona drug laws and sentencing can be found at <https://www.azleg.gov/arsDetail/?title=13>; see A.R.S. § 13-3401 to § 13-3461. Local law enforcement, campus security staff, and administrators enforce drug laws at ASU's campuses in California and Washington, D.C. Information on California drug laws and sentencing is under CA Health and Safety Code Division 10, Chapter 6, § 11350 - §11651 and viewable at https://leginfo.ca.gov/faces/codes_displayexpandedbranch.xhtml?tocCode=HSC&division=10.&title=&part=&chapter=&article=. Information regarding the District of Columbia drug laws and sentencing is at <https://code.dccouncil.us/dc/council/code/titles/48/chapters/9/>.

Illegal possession of marijuana or drug paraphernalia is a felony, which may be punishable by a fine and/or incarceration. Although several states have passed laws permitting some use of marijuana, federal law still prohibits the use or possession of marijuana. The Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Amendments of 1989 requires any post-secondary education institution receiving Title IV funding to comply with all federal laws and regulations regarding use and possession of illegal drugs, including marijuana. See 20 U.S.C. § 10111; 34 C.F.R. § 86.1. As a result, marijuana is prohibited on all property, which is ASU owned or controlled.

DUI or driving while impaired by alcohol, prescription medication, including medical marijuana, over-the-counter medication, or illegal drugs is dangerous and a crime. Be smart; don't drive under the influence!

ASU provides accurate factual information through numerous programs to assist individuals in making informed, responsible decisions regarding the use of alcohol and other drugs. Information about health risks associated with the use of alcohol and other drugs, and the availability of drug awareness, drug education, and assessment programs for employees and students can be found through ASU Counseling Services, ASU Employee Assistance Office, ASU Health Services, ASU Police Crime Prevention, and Live Well @ ASU.

Alcohol and other drug education, aimed at preventing underage drinking, high-risk drinking, and drug abuse, is provided by the ASU Police Crime Prevention Unit and ASU Wellness. Education includes programs like Recovery Rising, which offers a social network and sober activities to connect with and engage students in recovery, and includes events, open roundtable discussions, and campus AA meetings. ASU's Step Up! program is designed to enhance students' understanding of how to intervene when someone is in harm's way and addresses drug and alcohol abuse issues. Other ASU classes and presentations can be found in the Ongoing Prevention and Awareness Programs section of this document.

ASU Police partners with University Housing to present annual alcohol and drug awareness training for students living on campus. The format may include, but is not limited to, a presentation involving "Beer Goggles," an in-hall event designed to provide an alternative to drinking alcohol, discussions of myths surrounding drinking, an overview of legal penalties for violating state liquor laws, and/or a discussion regarding administrative penalties under the Student Code of Conduct.

Copies of the substance abuse policies are available from the Office of the Senior Vice President for Educational Outreach and Student Services at 480-965-2200. Detailed information regarding illegal possession, use, and distribution of drugs and alcohol can be viewed online at <https://wellness.asu.edu/explore-wellness/body/alcohol-and-drugs>.

For employees, it is a violation of university policy to possess, consume, or be under the influence of alcohol while on duty SPP 801: Employee Conduct and Work Rules. Employees found to violate a drug or alcohol policy (including student employees if the circumstances warrant) may be subject to corrective action, up to and including dismissal from employment under applicable university policies. Students in violation of Arizona Board of Regents of ASU policy regarding drugs and alcohol on campus will be subject to educational interventions, administrative action, and/or disciplinary sanctions (i.e., suspension or expulsion).

Anyone who violates local, state, or federal law regarding alcohol or other drugs, including the illegal possession of drug paraphernalia, or who otherwise engages in illegal conduct related to the illegal use of drugs or alcohol is subject to prosecution and punishment by criminal and civil authorities. This is in addition to educational interventions, administrative action, disciplinary sanctions, or loss of employment through the university. A schedule of substances and sanctions under federal law is available at <https://www.dea.gov/factsheets>. See 21 U.S.C. § 841, § 844, § 853, § 862, § 881; 18 U.S.C. § 922.

Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) Offenses

1. Dating Violence is defined as violence committed by a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the victim. (i) The existence of such a relationship shall be determined based on a consideration of the reporting party's statement and with the consideration of the length of the relationship, the type of relationship, and the frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship. For the purpose of this definition:
 - (A) Dating violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse.
 - (B) Dating violence does not include acts covered under the definition of domestic violence.
2. Domestic Violence is defined as a felony or misdemeanor crime of violence committed:
 - (A) By a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the victim;
 - (B) By a person with whom the victim shares a child in common;
 - (C) By a person who is cohabitating with or has cohabitated with the victim as a spouse or intimate partner;
 - (D) By a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction in which the crime of violence occurred;
 - (E) By any other person against an adult or youth victim who is protected from that person's acts under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction in which the crime of violence occurred.
3. Stalking is defined as engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to:
 - (A) Fear for the person's safety or the safety of others; or
 - (B) Suffer substantial emotional distress.

For the purpose of this definition:

- (A) Course of conduct means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts in which the stalker directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates to or about a person, or interferes with a person's property.
- (B) Reasonable person means a reasonable person under similar circumstances and with similar identities to the victim.
- (C) Substantial emotional distress means significant mental suffering or anguish that may, but does not necessarily, require medical or other professional treatment or counseling.

Geographical definitions

For the purpose of crime statistics reporting, the following geographical definitions apply:

1. On-campus property is defined as (i) any building or property owned or controlled by an institution within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the institution and used by the institution in direct support of, or in a manner related to, the institution's educational purposes, including residence halls; and (ii) Any building or property that is within or reasonably contiguous to the area identified in paragraph (i) of this definition that is owned by the institution but controlled by another person, is frequently used by students, and supports institutional purposes (such as a food or other retail vendor).
2. On-campus student housing facility is defined as a dormitory or other residential facility for students that is owned or controlled by the institution, or is located on property that is owned or controlled by the institution, and is within the reasonably contiguous geographic area that makes up the campus.
3. Non-campus property is defined as (i) any building or property owned or controlled by a student organization that is officially recognized by the institution; or (ii) any building or property owned or controlled by an institution that is used in direct support of, or in relation to, the institution's educational purposes, is frequently used by students, and is not within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the institution.
4. Public property is defined as all public property, including thoroughfares, street, sidewalks, and parking facilities that are within the campus, or immediately adjacent to and accessible from the campus.

Statistical overview

The crime statistics in this report have been compiled in accordance with definitions taken from the Summary Reporting System User Manual, National Incident-Based Reporting System, Uniform Crime Reporting Hate Crime Data Collection Guidelines and Training Manual, and the Violence Against Women Act of 1994.

The data relates to all crimes occurring on any ASU campus, including residential halls, as well as relevant non-campus property and public property, as these terms are defined in the aforementioned geographical definitions. Also included are crimes reported to ASU Police by its officers, the local law enforcement agencies having primary jurisdiction, and other university personnel who have significant responsibility for student and campus activities (Campus Security Authorities). Although asked to do so, not all law enforcement agencies responded to or were able to provide statistics as required for Clery Act reporting.

For stalking, ASU records a crime statistic every year in which the course of conduct is reported to a local police agency or a Campus Security Authority. ASU also records each report of stalking as occurring only at the first location within ASU's Clery geography in which a perpetrator engaged in the stalking course of conduct or a victim first became aware of stalking.

Violations referred for disciplinary action are the result of alleged criminal offenses, which did not result in an arrest but were referred to other responsible university officials for administrative investigation and possible disciplinary action, administrative action, or educational intervention.

Unfounded crimes - Pursuant to the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act regulations, an institution may withhold, or subsequently remove, a reported crime from its crime statistics in the rare situation where sworn or commissioned law enforcement personnel have fully investigated the reported crime and, based on the results of this full investigation and evidence, have made a formal determination that the crime report is false or baseless and therefore "unfounded." Only sworn or commissioned law enforcement personnel may "unfound" a crime report. The recovery of stolen property, the low value of stolen property, refusal of the victim to cooperate with the prosecution, and the failure to make an arrest do not "unfound" a crime report.

Incidents and arrests occurring in on-campus student housing facilities are duplicated in the on-campus totals and are not in addition to them.

Crimes that have not been reported to the ASU Police, a Campus Security Authority, or an aforementioned law enforcement agency are not reflected in the following statistical tables. For this reason, the campus community is urged to report crimes for Clery Act purposes and inclusion in the annual publication.

Annual Fire Safety Report

The Arizona State University Police Department publishes this fire safety information as part of its annual Clery Act compliance document, which contains information on ASU's fire safety practices and standards. This report includes statistics concerning the number of fires in on-campus student housing facilities, the cause of each fire, the number of injuries and deaths related to a fire, and the value of the property damage caused by a fire.

The Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available for review 24 hours a day on the ASU Police website at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf>. A physical copy may be obtained free of charge by request from the ASU Police by calling 480-965-3456 or stopping by any of the ASU Police campus locations.

If a fire occurs in any ASU building, immediately call 911. Police can quickly summon the fire department through a direct-dial phone communication link to the jurisdictional fire dispatch centers.

If an ASU community member finds evidence of an extinguished fire and is unsure whether ASU Police has already responded, the community member should immediately call ASU Police at 480-965-3456 to investigate and document the incident. For example, if a Community Assistant finds evidence of a fire in a trashcan in the hallway of a residence hall, the Community Assistant should not touch the trashcan and immediately report the incident to ASU Police and wait for an officer's response. The officer will document the incident before removing the trashcan.

- For ASU in Washington, D.C., Metropolitan Police will respond to investigate and document the incident; call 202-727-9099.
- For the ASU California Center, the Los Angeles Police Department will respond to investigate and document the incident; call 877-275-5273.
- For ASU at Lake Havasu, the Lake Havasu Police Department will respond to investigate and document the incident; call 928-855-1171.
- For the ASU School of Social Work Tucson campus, the Tucson Police Department will respond to investigate and document the incident; call 520-791-4444.

Fire alarms alert community members of potential hazards. Community members are required to evacuate buildings immediately upon hearing a fire alarm in a facility. Use the nearest stairwell and exit the building immediately. Do not use the elevator. Community members should familiarize themselves with exits in each building. Evacuate buildings for your safety. Police may arrest those who fail to evacuate a building promptly. When a fire alarm is activated, most elevators will stop and be available for emergency responders with key access only. Occupants should use the stairs to evacuate the building. If you are caught in the elevator, push the emergency phone button. The emergency phones in elevators on campus will ring to ASU Police Communications Center or another emergency call center.

EHS Fire Safety and Prevention completes fire safety code compliance audits of the university facilities at ASU's Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses. For ASU at Lake Havasu, the contracted property management company coordinates with the Lake Havasu City Fire Marshal and the EHS Fire Safety and Prevention to ensure fire and life safety inspections are completed. In the event of a fire, a hazardous material incident, or other required emergency response, the local municipal fire department will provide emergency and non-emergency services.

Fire logs

In compliance with the Higher Education Opportunity Act, the university provides fire statistics and a fire log with details of each fire in an on-campus student housing facility. Daily fire logs for ASU's Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe and West Valley campuses are available for review 24 hours a day, online. Visit <https://cfo.asu.edu/crime-logs> and select the "Fire Logs" tab.

The daily fire log for ASU at Lake Havasu can be viewed by visiting the Santiago Hall reception desk at 100 University Way.

The daily fire log for ASU California Center can be requested at the security desk in the main lobby of AUS California Campus-Grand.

Daily fire logs are not maintained for ASU in Washington, D.C, or the ASU School of Social Work Tucson campuses, as these locations do not have on-campus student housing facilities.

Fire protection equipment/systems

A majority of university buildings are equipped with automatic fire detection and alarm systems that are constantly monitored by ASU Police staff. Refer to the fire statistics tables for further information about fire detection, notification, and suppression systems in each residential facility.

Procedures for students and employees in the event of a fire

Should you encounter a fire or find significant smoke in a building, follow these instructions:

1. Call 911 from a safe location to report the fire/smoke to emergency personnel. Find the nearest fire alarm pull station and pull the alarm to ensure building occupants get notice to evacuate the building. (Note: some buildings may be equipped with no pull stations or one in a secure location.)
2. Evacuate the building immediately via the nearest safe exit. Do not spend time attempting to save material — your life is more important. Ensure doors close behind you. If you encounter a good deal of smoke or fire, use your secondary exit. If a secondary exit is not available, keep low and crawl to find better air.
3. After leaving the building, proceed to your designated emergency assembly area.

Fire safety tips

Buildings are equipped with various features designed to detect, stop, and/or suppress a fire's spread. A door can be the first line of defense against the spread of smoke or fire from one area to another. Some doors, such as fire doors in corridors or stairwells of residence halls, are designed to stand up to fire longer than those of an individual room. These doors must be CLOSED for them to work. Additionally, if a door has a device that automatically closes the door, it should NOT be propped open. Sprinklers are effective in preventing the spread of fire when operating properly. DO NOT obstruct the sprinkler heads with materials like clothing. Smoke detectors cannot do their job if they are disabled or covered by the occupant, which is a university policy violation.

Fire safety education and training

Fire safety education and training for residential life students and support personnel are provided quarterly, in person, in the form of fire and evacuation drills. EHS Fire Safety and Prevention conducts the announced and unannounced drills. Additionally, all ASU employees upon hire must pass Fire Safety Training provided by EHS and thereafter must take annual Fire Safety Training.

University documentation and manuals

Contact EHS Fire Safety and Prevention for access to the ASU Fire Prevention and Safety Plan, which is provided as a general guideline for residential life facilities and does not cover all code compliance issues. If you have any questions, concerns or need additional information, contact EHS Fire Safety and Prevention at 480-965-1823.

For ASU at Lake Havasu, contact the Business Operations Specialist at 928-854-9730.

For the ASU in Washington, D.C., ASU California Center, and ASU School of Social Work Tucson campus, please refer to the EHS Fire Safety and Prevention Fire Prevention and Safety Plan for a basic understanding of code requirements as it relates to fire safety at your campus. Further guidance can be provided by contacting your campus Facilities Management/Property Management responsible party. Any items not clarified may be directed to EHS Fire Safety and Prevention.

University housing guidelines for fire safety

ASU's Residential Life supports the student population with living quarters on the university's various campuses. ASU must monitor all operations and living quarters for safety and ensure compliance with all applicable federal, state and local codes, and all standards and ordinances (e.g., building codes, fire codes, and Occupational Safety and Health). ASU Environmental Health and Safety and Fire Safety and Prevention are responsible for inspecting and coordinating with each unit representative within Residential Life to promote a safe environment and operation.

The following guidelines have been prepared for university personnel to facilitate the proper use and operation of congregated residential facilities on university property.

Fire and safety inspections

The university continues to assess and upgrade fire and life safety equipment/systems as an ongoing process to ensure all equipment meets applicable codes and standards. EHS Fire Safety and Prevention performs residential hall fire and safety inspections regularly. It conducts facility fire drills four times a year on a quarterly schedule for ASU's Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe, and West Valley campuses.

EHS Fire Safety and Prevention inspections are performed to identify and eliminate fire and safety hazards. The inspections include, but are not limited to, visual examination of electrical cords, sprinkler heads, smoke detectors, fire extinguishers, and other life safety systems. In addition, each room will be examined, if applicable, for the presence of prohibited items (e.g., sources of open flames like candles, portable cooking appliances in non-kitchen areas, etc.) or prohibited activity (e.g., smoking in the room, tampering with life safety equipment, etc.).

These fire and safety inspections do not apply to locations that have been leased for student overflow housing as indicated by notes within the fire statistics charts because EHS Fire Safety and Prevention does not have enforcement jurisdiction for those facilities.

For ASU at Lake Havasu, the contracted property management company coordinates with the Lake Havasu City Fire Marshal and EHS Fire Safety and Prevention to ensure fire and life safety inspections are completed. In the event of a fire, hazardous material incident, or other required emergency responses, the local municipal fire department will respond and provide emergency and non-emergency services.

General safety

State and federal regulations require the university to maintain its facilities in a manner that allows occupants to safely use and enter and exit the facility. The following guidelines are provided to assist Residential Life and Housing Services in assuring proper use and maintenance of each facility's exit system.

1. Any material used in lobbies, corridors, stairwells or other common areas shall not obstruct the exit passageway and must be made of non-combustible material, fire-resistive material, or fire-retardant-treated material.
2. Exit signs must be operational and visually unobstructed (illuminated appropriately).
3. Decorations are prohibited near any heat source. Fire safe distance from heat sources can only be determined by evaluating the area, the composition of the decorative materials, and the heat source's capabilities.
4. Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for installation and use when using authorized equipment, installing equipment, or any temporary structure, display, or device.
5. Contact EHS Fire Safety and Prevention at 480-965-1823 before initiating any project related to construction, remodel, special event, or anything that involves using the exit system for something other than normal traffic ingress and egress. An exit system includes lobbies, corridors, hallways, exit doors, stairways and exit passageways.
6. Maintain a clear, unobstructed view and operation of any fire protection device: (e.g., smoke detector, heat detector, manual fire pull station, audible-visual device, fire sprinkler head, fire panel, and special fire suppression systems/apparatus).

Electrical safety

The following guidelines must be assured whenever electrical equipment, lighting, or any electrical wiring is used or affected by decorative materials or displays:

1. All electrical equipment and lighting must be tested and approved by a recognized testing laboratory (e.g., Underwriters Laboratory).
2. All appliances and lighting must be inspected for damage and operability before use.
3. Use appliances and lighting as approved and recommended by the manufacturer. Lighting must be mounted to not damage the wiring or be damaged by other equipment. Use of transparent adhesive tape to adhere wiring to walls or hooks to drape wiring is acceptable for temporary conditions and if approved by EHS Fire Safety and Prevention Office.
4. Running electrical cords through doorways or any openings through walls, ceilings or floors is prohibited.
5. Extension cords must be at least 16-gauge or heavier with a ground three-prong and cannot run in series.

6. The use of multi-plug adapters is prohibited. (Exception: any adapter or cord with an operational circuit breaker is acceptable for more than one appliance as long as it is used within the manufacturer's recommended use, design, and load capacities.)

Christmas trees and other plant life

Below are EHS Fire Safety and Prevention code requirements to follow whenever decorating or displaying materials using any plant life for a facility's interior or exterior:

1. Cut Christmas trees are prohibited. Only fire-retardant artificial trees or "live" trees — root type in the soil are acceptable. Live trees must be checked daily and watered as needed.
2. Trees shall not be located in any manner that will block or obstruct an exit or passageway. Only approved lighting shall be used on trees. Ensure all electrical wiring is in good condition and connections are secure.
3. Any decoration on or around the tree must be non-combustible or properly treated with fire-retardant material.
4. Palm fronds and any other cut vegetation are prohibited unless approved by the EHS Fire Safety and Prevention Office for specific temporary use, and only after verification that all vegetation is fire-retardant-treated. (Exception: cut flowers are acceptable for temporary display in a personal area as long as it does not create a fire hazard.)

Candles, open flames and other heat sources

Any item used for decoration, display, or personal use that generates or emits heat must comply with the following guidelines:

1. Use of candles, open flames, and burning is prohibited in all university buildings. (Exception: authorized "hot work" performed by qualified maintenance personnel with EHS Fire Safety and Prevention approval.)
2. Use of any heat-generating product or equipment must be used as recommended by the manufacturer.

Temporary structures

Temporary structures are facilities designated for temporary use or defined as temporary construction, such as trailers and tents. Each temporary structure must comply with the following:

1. Trailer, tents, temporary walls or ceilings constructed of any material must be approved by EHS Fire Safety and Prevention.
2. From any point, a minimum of a 2A:10B:C-rated fire extinguisher must be within a 75-foot travel distance for light-to-moderate hazard areas, and 30 or 50 feet for high hazard areas (based on the type of hazardous operations for the area). Travel distance cannot include steps, through secured doors, or any special conditions that restrict the user in obtaining the fire extinguisher and returning to fight the fire.
3. Special fire protection measures may be necessary for events to meet International Building and Fire Codes requirements. These measures are determined by submitting the purpose and all pertinent information relating to the temporary structure to EHS Fire Safety and Prevention.

Emergency and evacuation procedures

All personnel should familiarize themselves with the ASU Emergency Response Guide and the following information.

1. Know the quickest exit route out of the building. Have a backup or alternate exit path out of the building. Elevators and bridges should be avoided in emergencies and should not be used in a fire or earthquake. In emergencies other than fire and earthquake, elevators may be used by people with mobility impairments.
2. Know the nearest manual fire alarm pull station in your building and how to activate it. (Note: some buildings may be equipped with no pull stations or one in a secure location.)
3. Know if any co-workers, students or visitors will require assistance in exiting the building and be prepared to provide whatever help is necessary. Persons with disability-related evacuation needs are encouraged to discuss their needs with their Unit Coordinator in advance. Staff and faculty with mobility impairments should know the location of the nearest Rescue Assistance Area in their building. Rescue Assistance Areas are designated "safe havens" for people with mobility impairments. They are typically located in stairwells of multi-storied buildings.

4. Know what your department looks like on a daily and routine basis. Suspicious objects can only be identified by those who know what to expect and anticipate at their worksite.
5. Know where your emergency Assembly Point and Evacuation Areas are located, and the Evacuation Routes you should follow to reach them. Do not stand in driveways or roadways; emergency responders need clear access to buildings.
6. Know how to turn off machinery, appliances, and equipment at your worksite, as they may create additional safety hazards if left running for an extended period.

Emergency evacuation instructions

Building occupants must evacuate the building when the fire alarm sounds or when directed to do so by emergency responders. Upon hearing or seeing a fire alarm or other evacuation alarm, all building occupants shall immediately leave the building and proceed to your emergency evacuation assembly area. Occupants will only be allowed to return when the building has been declared safe by emergency responders.

When evacuating your building or work area:

1. Stay calm. Do not rush or panic.
2. Safely stop your work.
3. Gather your personal belongings if it is safe to do so. Take prescription medications, keys, purse, glasses, etc. with you if possible as it may be hours before you are allowed back into the building.
4. If safe, close your office door and window but do not lock them.
5. Use the nearest safe stairs and proceed to the nearest exit. Do not use the elevator.
6. Proceed to the designated emergency evacuation assembly area.
7. Wait for instructions from emergency responders.
8. Do not re-enter the building or work area until you have been instructed to do so by emergency responders.

In case of fire:

Should you encounter a fire or find significant smoke in a building, follow the instructions below:

1. Call 911 from a safe location to report the fire/smoke to emergency personnel. Find the nearest fire alarm pull station and pull the alarm to ensure building occupants get notice to evacuate the building (Note: some buildings may be equipped with no pull stations or one in a secure location).
2. Evacuate the building immediately via the nearest safe exit. Do not spend time attempting to save material — your life is more important. Ensure doors close behind you. If you encounter a good deal of smoke or fire, use your secondary exit. If a secondary exit is not available, keep low or crawl to find better air.
3. After leaving the building, proceed to your designated emergency assembly area.

Shelter-in-Place procedures

What it means to “Shelter-in-Place”

If an incident occurs and the building(s) or areas around you become unstable or unsafe, or if the air outdoors becomes dangerous due to toxic or irritating substances, it may be safer to stay indoors. Leaving the area may expose you to that danger caused by high winds, limited visibility, and respiratory-related issues, to name a few. Thus, to “shelter-in-place” means to “make a shelter” using the building that you are in, and with a few adjustments, this location can be made safer and more comfortable until it is safe to go outside.

Basic “Shelter-in-Place” Guidance

During an incident, if the building you are in is not damaged and still affords protection, stay inside. If possible, move to an interior room and away from glass or items that might become dangerous flying objects. Stay inside until you are told the area is safe by designated staff or it is obvious the incident has passed and no longer affords protection from the incident. Take your belongings needed for personal care (purse, wallet, medications) as long as it does not slow your exit. Follow the evacuation protocols for your building (close your door, proceed to the nearest exit, and use the stairs instead of the elevators, etc.). Do not remove personal items (e.g., pictures, computer, etc.). Once evacuated, seek shelter at the nearest safe building. Seek shelter where authorities direct or the nearest safest building. Follow all instructions given by first responders if they are already on the scene.

How will you know to “Shelter-in-Place”?

A shelter-in-place notification may come from several sources, including ASU Police, University Housing staff members, university officials, or other authorities using the university’s emergency communications tools. Please note the following emergency communication examples:

- ASU homepage messages.
- ASU LiveSafe mobile app | available through the App Store, Google Play, or the ASU Police website.
- ASU NEWS page messages.
- ASU Police media notification system.
- ASU Police patrol vehicle public address system.
- Crime Alerts.
- Digital bulletin board posts.
- Door-to-door notifications. Emergency information hotline messages.
- Social media posts | @ASUPolice.
- Freeway electronic billboards.
- Mass email.
- Media alert (Internet, print, radio, TV).
- My ASU webpage alerts.
- Reverse 911.
- RSS feed.
- Text messages.
- X (Twitter) | @ASUPolice.

How to “Shelter-in-Place”

No matter where you are, these basic steps should assist and should be considered unless instructed otherwise by emergency personnel.

1. If you are inside, stay where you are. Collect any emergency shelter-in-place supplies you may need if you must evacuate immediately. Supplies will also include any items you may need if utilities are severed, and you must remain inside for a prolonged period (e.g., a flashlight, extra batteries, etc.).
2. If you are caught outdoors, move quickly to the nearest undamaged building and take shelter.
3. If possible, your shelter should be:
 - a. An interior room.
 - b. Above ground level.
 - c. Without windows or with the least number of windows possible.
4. Shut and lock all windows (tighter seal) and close exterior doors.
5. Turn off air conditioners, heaters and fans.
6. Close ventilation system vents if able. University staff will turn off the ventilation as quickly as possible.
7. Turn on a radio or TV (if power is still available) and listen for more information about the incident.

Smoke-free campus

Almost three-fourths of all fires are caused by smoking material from a cigarette being abandoned or disposed of carelessly. Being smoke-free at all ASU campuses reduces the chances of smoke-material fires. Given the amount of storage and trash that can accumulate across all ASU campuses, there is a high risk of easily avoidable fires. The implementation of a smoke-free campus has kept ASU clear of any reported smoke- material fires.

Fire safety improvements

ASU continues to monitor fire and life safety trends across all buildings and property. ASU also developed a list of capital improvement projects that are evaluated to be put into action items to upgrade systems and buildings via the EHS Fire Safety and Prevention Office, and the EHS Emergency Life Safety Improvement (which provides emergency repairs). EHS Employee Health Department provides Automated Extended Defibrillators in all new construction and tenant improvements or construction projects over $250,000. Additionally, EHS Fire Safety and Prevention upgrades fire alarm systems, automatic sprinklers, hood systems, etc., when there is a reported issue that is deemed a safety hazard based on the evaluation of the systems.

This notification summarizes ASU's programs, resources, policies, and standards of conduct; discusses health risks; highlights treatment options; and provides an overview of sanctions.

Standards of Conduct

It is the goal and policy of Arizona State University to provide a drug-free environment for all university students and employees. Students, faculty, staff and visitors of any ASU campus, whether in Arizona, California or the District of Columbia, are advised to become familiar with federal, state and local laws regarding alcohol and other drugs in accordance with the campus location. Students, faculty, staff, and visitors on any ASU campus must: 1) abide by ASU policies regarding alcohol abuse and illicit drugs; 2) abide by local, state and federal laws regarding alcohol, drugs, and controlled substances; and 3) act to reduce the risks associated with the use and abuse of these substances. ASU students and employees are subject to all applicable drug and alcohol policies including, but not limited to:

- ABOR 5-301, Code of Conduct.
- ABOR 5-308, Student Code of Conduct.
- ABOR 6-913, Drug Free Workplace.
- ASU Policy ACD 119, Drug-Free Workplace Requirements.

Possession or consumption of alcohol, tobacco, and illegal drugs in university housing is prohibited. Pursuant to federal law, cannabis (marijuana) use is prohibited on ASU property and in university housing, even for those who have a medical marijuana card.

The ASU Police Department actively enforces laws pertaining to underage drinking, public consumption of alcohol, the furnishing of alcohol to underage individuals, and other alcohol laws at ASU's Downtown Phoenix, Polytechnic, Tempe, West Valley, and ASU at Mesa City Center campuses. ASU Police also enforces drug laws. ASU Police Department collaborates with local police departments for the enforcement of alcohol and drug laws.

For the ASU Colleges at Lake Havasu, security on campus enforces ASU policy and cooperates with the Lake Havasu Police Department for the enforcement of alcohol and drug laws.

For the ASU in Washington D.C., security on campus enforces ASU policy and cooperates with the Metropolitan Police Department for the enforcement of alcohol and drug laws.

For the ASU California Center (Los Angeles), the ASU Facility and Events Manager refers ASU drug/alcohol policy violations to the appropriate ASU office for disposition and cooperates with the Los Angeles Police Department for enforcement of alcohol and drug laws.

Overview of state laws and legal sanction

This document provides an overview of alcohol and drug offenses for Arizona, California, and the District of Columbia. Sanctions under federal, state, and local laws for the unlawful possession or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol are serious and can range from civil sanctions to criminal convictions including fines and imprisonment.

Arizona, California, and the District of Columbia allow persons at least 21 years of age to buy, possess or use marijuana for recreational or medical purposes. Recreational marijuana is intended for private use and cannot be consumed in public. However, under federal law, marijuana remains an illegal controlled substance. ASU as an institution of higher education is subject to the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act which prohibits the unlawful possession, use or distribution of illicit drugs by university students or employees. Therefore, in accordance with the Act, ASU prohibits the unlawful sale, possession, use, or distribution of any controlled substance, including marijuana, on ASU property or as part of any ASU activity even for those who have a medical marijuana card.

Disciplinary sanctions, educational interventions, and administrative actions

Students

Students who violate the Board of Regents' or university drug or alcohol policy are subject to disciplinary sanctions, educational interventions and/or administrative actions. Disciplinary sanctions include expulsion or suspension. Educational interventions may include the requirement to participate in individual or group learning sessions, community service experiences and/or risk assessments addressing alcohol or other drug abuse. Administrative actions may include warnings, probation, interim suspension, or completion of a drug or alcohol education or rehabilitation program. Violators may be referred for prosecution.

Employees

Sanctions will be imposed on an employee who violates university drug or alcohol policies, which may include progressive discipline, a written reprimand, suspension, demotion, or termination of employment. Sanctions may also include the requirement that the employee complete a drug or alcohol education or rehabilitation program. Violators may be referred for prosecution.

Health risks

Alcohol

Alcohol consumption causes a number of marked changes in behavior. Even low doses significantly impair the judgment and coordination required to drive a car safely, increasing the likelihood that the driver will be involved in an accident. Low to moderate doses of alcohol also increase the incidence of a variety of aggressive acts, including spouse, relationship abuse, and child abuse. Moderate to high doses of alcohol cause marked impairments in higher mental functions, severely altering a person's ability to learn and remember information. Very high doses can cause respiratory depression and death. If combined with other depressants of the central nervous system, much lower doses of alcohol can be fatal.

The effects of alcohol use on academics and work can have significant impact on an individual's success and wellbeing. Alcohol use can cause impairments in higher mental functions, severely altering a person's ability to learn and remember information. Students who drink excessively are more likely to skip classes and spend less time studying. This can impact academic performance, grades, and graduation rates. See <https://www.cls.umd.edu/docs/AcadOppCosts.pdf>. Employees who drink excessively tend to miss work more often and have more accidents at work, have problems with productivity, job performance and turnover. See <https://recovered.org/addiction/drugs-and-alcohol-in-the-workplace>.

Long term alcohol misuse, genetics and family history of alcohol problems, and mental health conditions can contribute to the development of alcohol dependence. For excessive and dependent drinkers, cessation of alcohol intake can produce withdrawal symptoms, including severe anxiety, tremors, hallucinations, and convulsions. Alcohol withdrawal can be life-threatening. See <https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/books/NBK441882/>.

Over time, excessive alcohol use can lead to chronic health problems involving the heart, brain, liver, and other vital organs, cancer, mental health problems, weakening of the immune system, social, family, and work-related problems. See <https://www.cdc.gov/alcohol/fact-sheets/alcohol-use.htm>.

Women who drink alcohol during pregnancy may give birth to infants with fetal alcohol spectrum disorder (FASD). These conditions can cause a range of physical abnormalities, intellectual disabilities, sensory problems, and difficulties with behavior and learning. There is no known safe amount of alcohol use during pregnancy or while trying to get pregnant. The sooner a woman who is pregnant stops drinking, the better it will be for her and her baby. FASDs are preventable if a woman does not drink alcohol during pregnancy. See <https://www.cdc.gov/ncbddd/fasd/facts.html>.

Illicit Drugs

The use of illicit drugs can lead to a variety of health risks, depending on the drug or combination of drugs used. A description of common drugs of abuse, their uses and effects are provided in Appendix B. For further information, visit the campus drug prevention at <https://www.campusdrugprevention.gov/drugs>.

Prevention and education programs

Information for students and employees regarding the health risks associated with the use of illicit drugs and abuse of alcohol, as well as drug and alcohol awareness programs is available through Live Well @ ASU. Drug and alcohol treatment and rehabilitation programs are available for students through ASU Counseling Services, and for employees through the Employee Assistance Program.

Prevention and education

ASU uses a comprehensive approach to alcohol and other drug abuse prevention that:

- Addresses multiple factors that influence student alcohol and other drug use including individual, peer, institutional, and community factors.
- Provides a continuum of programs and services that range from prevention, treatment, and recovery support.

Limits on alcohol availability

ASU policy limits alcohol availability. ASU Policy SMM 106–03: Alcohol and Other Drugs on Campus provides details pertaining to the following:

- Alcohol is not permitted in the residence halls, except in family housing (Polytechnic only) and then only for those age 21 and older.
- No alcohol may be served on ASU campuses or ASU’s off-campus locations like the Kerr Cultural Center, unless it is served at a designated special event pursuant to the ABOR policy 5-108: Sale and Consumption of Alcoholic Beverages on Campus with approval by the President.
- Events cannot serve alcohol unless a completed permit to serve alcohol is on file with the ASU Police Department prior to the event.
- Residence halls require key-card access for entry to reduce trafficking of alcohol by older students and non-students into freshman housing facilities.
- All research activities requiring the dosing of subjects with alcohol or other drugs are subject to the ASU Human Subjects Institutional Review Board.

Other policies, laws and activities designed to reduce alcohol abuse include:

- Arizona driver’s license for persons under age 21 is formatted differently.
- Hours for alcohol sales are limited by the state.
- Arizona law requires all alcohol servers to receive mandatory training.
- The City of Tempe enacted a “Large Party Ordinance” (social gatherings or events with five or more attendees) that applies significant fines if the police respond to more than one complaint involving a large party at a given residence within 90 days.

Limits on marketing and promotion of alcohol

ASU limits marketing and promotion of alcohol by the following methods:

- ASU Student Media advertising policy allows the editorial board to refuse ads unsuitable for their publications. Advertising in student publications can be rejected or edited if it “encourages behavior or indulgence that is immoderate or excessive.”
- Local beer distributors have voluntarily agreed not to place ads in student publications. The alcohol industry is not permitted to sponsor events and sports competitions at the Sun Devil Fitness Complexes. ASU policy restricts the use of alcohol industry logos and signage for campus programs sponsored by the industry.
- ASU policy restricts the number and type of ads and flyers that can be posted on-campus kiosks. Ads that promote drinking in a high-risk context are subject to removal. For frequent violations, the business may receive a visit by an ASU police officer to discuss the policy.

Policy development and enforcement

ASU develops and enforces Alcohol and Other Drug (AOD) policies to reduce the risk of harm and illegal activity among its students and employees. ASU policies and local laws address the following:

- On-campus functions must be registered.
- Inspection of on-campus functions by the Arizona Department of Liquor Control or officers from the police department may occur at any time.
- A university representative must be present for campus functions where alcohol is served.
- Disciplinary sanctions for violation of AOD policies are consistent across all ASU campuses.

- Arizona has developed strict laws regarding underage use of alcohol and illicit drugs that are enforced with heavy penalties.
- Arizona has passed a law requiring servers to obtain server training to educate them about legal liability and reduce service to patrons who are over-consuming.
- ID checks at off-campus bars and liquor stores are enforced.
- Laws against buying for minors, using fake IDs, and DUIs are enforced.
- Roadblocks are implemented, particularly on and near holiday weekends.
- Open house assemblies are restricted (Tempe's large party ordinance).
- Dram shop laws are enforced.
