Mayo Clinic and ASU have joined forces on several new and exciting collaborations in medical research and education

"The primary objective of our strategic collaborations is to bring together people and organizations working together toward the common goal of developing and supporting medical research and education that will help patients and ultimately lead to decreasing the burden of human disease."

Victor F. Trasteik, M.D.
Chair, Board of Governors, Mayo Clinic
(Scottsdale, Arizona)

Specific Areas of Collaboration Include:

- Establishment of a joint nursing program. The ASU College of Nursing - Mayo Clinic Campus will combine the unique strengths of both organizations
- Establishment of a seed fund to support the interdisciplinary and translational research projects that are collaborative efforts between ASU and Mayo Clinic
- Development of joint education programs
- Provisions for shared faculty and appointments for Mayo Clinic and ASU faculty at both institutions
- Shared graduate students and involvement of Mayo faculty in ASU graduate programs
- Establishment of ASU-Mayo Clinic collaborative partnership offices, one at Mayo and one at ASU
