How can ASU through Proposition 301 help Arizona’s economy?

- ASU will focus on several specific research areas to support the state new economy

- Proposition 301 funds will be leveraged by federal, corporate, and private funds to expand the impact of the research

- These multidisciplinary research areas address issues of health, technology development, economic competitiveness, and quality of life
Arizona State University
Proposition 301 Research Areas

• Biosciences / Biotechnology

• Information Sciences / Information Technology

• Materials Research

• Manufacturing

• Technology Transfer