

Snapshot

ASU Student Promotes Passion for Alternate Energy

Thanks to a partnership between ASU and Gila County, ASU student and firefighter Roy Miller is leading a project that can provide hospitals and schools with clean, renewable energy using the wood chips from forests as a fuel source.

Snapshot

ASU Student Builds Partnership with City of Yuma

Roxanna Patterson learns how to develop better university-community relationships by collaborating with the City of Yuma to create a work session for addressing Yuma's international traffic concerns. Through this partnership, Yuma community members were able to contribute suggestions for improving their traffic routes and signage.

Snapshot. . . of You

ASU Student Helps. . .

Are you passionate about making a difference in society? Do you want to emerge from ASU as a professional with marketable skills? Do you want to gain experience in establishing networks in the public and private sectors? APA 494 gives you the opportunity to learn and practice leadership skills through a real-world project.

APA 494 Engaging Arizona: Civic Enterprise & Leadership

New Class for Spring 2009

SLN: 24967

Day: W

Time: 4:40 - 7:30 pm

Room: LL 241

Credits: 3 hours

Instructors:

Shaw-Snyder
& Nakagawa

Crosslisted with:

PAF 494

POS 494

WST 494

HON footnote

From local to global issues, students study our interconnectedness and how to be potent civic participants in working towards solutions. In addition to leadership communication and analytical skills, learn about the diversity of Arizona from an interdisciplinary perspective.

Paired with opportunities for real life experience, this course develops emerging professionals with marketable skills, introduces students to networks in public and private sectors, and prepares students to make a difference in our society.

Students develop leadership skills and entrepreneurial spirit through various methodologies, including guest speakers, simulations, case studies, research assignments, group and individual presentations, communication development plans, selected readings, and seminar-style classes.

For more information:

Barbara Shaw-Snyder

480-727-0571

Barbara.Shaw@asu.edu

www.apas.clas.asu.edu

