All-Americas

(9 players on 12 occasions)

1995: Sargis Sargsian (singles)
1994: Sargis Sargsian (singles)
1991: Peter Jeschke/Sargsian (doubles)
1990: Brian Gyleko (singles)
1990: Gyleko/Dave Lomicky (doubles)
1988: Doug Sachs
1979: Alan Waldman
1975: Mark Joffe
1971: John Fort

In 1979, ASU's men's tennis program entered the Pacific-10 Southern Division, the most competitive conference in the country. Since 1946, when the first Division I team was crowned, the Pacific-10 Southern Division teams have captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

Also in 1979, ASU produced its third All-American, Alan Waldman. He led his Sun Devil teammates to a 17-0 team record. In 1980, ASU won the Pac-10 Southern Division titles and captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

In 1979, ASU's men's tennis program entered the Pacific-10 Southern Division, the most competitive conference in the country. Since 1946, when the first Division I team was crowned, the Pac-10 Southern Division teams have captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

Also in 1979, ASU produced its third All-American, Alan Waldman. He led his Sun Devil teammates to a 17-0 team record. In 1980, ASU won the Pac-10 Southern Division titles and captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

In 1979, ASU's men's tennis program entered the Pacific-10 Southern Division, the most competitive conference in the country. Since 1946, when the first Division I team was crowned, the Pac-10 Southern Division teams have captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

Also in 1979, ASU produced its third All-American, Alan Waldman. He led his Sun Devil teammates to a 17-0 team record. In 1980, ASU won the Pac-10 Southern Division titles and captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

In 1979, ASU's men's tennis program entered the Pacific-10 Southern Division, the most competitive conference in the country. Since 1946, when the first Division I team was crowned, the Pac-10 Southern Division teams have captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

Also in 1979, ASU produced its third All-American, Alan Waldman. He led his Sun Devil teammates to a 17-0 team record. In 1980, ASU won the Pac-10 Southern Division titles and captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

In 1979, ASU's men's tennis program entered the Pacific-10 Southern Division, the most competitive conference in the country. Since 1946, when the first Division I team was crowned, the Pac-10 Southern Division teams have captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

Also in 1979, ASU produced its third All-American, Alan Waldman. He led his Sun Devil teammates to a 17-0 team record. In 1980, ASU won the Pac-10 Southern Division titles and captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

In 1979, ASU's men's tennis program entered the Pacific-10 Southern Division, the most competitive conference in the country. Since 1946, when the first Division I team was crowned, the Pac-10 Southern Division teams have captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

Also in 1979, ASU produced its third All-American, Alan Waldman. He led his Sun Devil teammates to a 17-0 team record. In 1980, ASU won the Pac-10 Southern Division titles and captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

In 1979, ASU's men's tennis program entered the Pacific-10 Southern Division, the most competitive conference in the country. Since 1946, when the first Division I team was crowned, the Pac-10 Southern Division teams have captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

Also in 1979, ASU produced its third All-American, Alan Waldman. He led his Sun Devil teammates to a 17-0 team record. In 1980, ASU won the Pac-10 Southern Division titles and captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

In 1979, ASU's men's tennis program entered the Pacific-10 Southern Division, the most competitive conference in the country. Since 1946, when the first Division I team was crowned, the Pac-10 Southern Division teams have captured 40 of the 48 national titles.

Also in 1979, ASU produced its third All-American, Alan Waldman. He led his Sun Devil teammates to a 17-0 team record. In 1980, ASU won the Pac-10 Southern Division titles and captured 40 of the 48 national titles.