First Year Composition Requirement
Students must demonstrate reasonable proficiency in written English by achieving a grade of “C” or better in both ENG 101 and 102 or in ENG 105 or their equivalents. Should a student receive a grade lower than “C” in any of the courses, it must be repeated until the specified proficiency is demonstrated.

General Studies Requirements
All undergraduate students are required to complete the university General Studies requirements in order to be eligible for graduation. Many general studies requirements may simultaneously fulfill college and major requirements.

Professional Status Requirements
In order to earn Professional Status, Justice Studies students are required to complete:

It may be included within the Mathematical Studies requirement where appropriate. Please see your academic advisor for a complete list of acceptable courses. Below is a list of commonly taken courses:

Pass/Fail Option
Courses completed for pass/fail credit may count only as elective credit in meeting degree requirements.

Bachelor of Science in Justice Studies

The curriculum for the Bachelor of Science degree in Justice Studies provides interdisciplinary social-science courses relevant to law and justice for students working in the justice field, students anticipating justice-related careers (including the legal profession), and interested non-Justice Studies students. The major requires 51 semester hours: 36 in JUS and 15 in a related field, all with grades of “C” or better.

Admission
Upon admission to the university, Justice Studies students are classified as preprofessional. Students must complete prerequisite courses and grade point (GPA) standards to become eligible for upper division Justice Studies courses.

Earning J-1 Status
For Justice Studies students to enroll in J-2 courses, they must earn at least a “C” in each of the JUS required courses — JUS 105 (or 305), 301, 302, and 303 — AND earn a minimum average GPA of 2.50 for these four courses.

Earning Professional Status
Justice Studies students must earn professional status before enrolling in 400-level JUS resident credit courses required for graduation. They may achieve professional status by:

- earning a minimum of 56 semester hours;
- earning a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.50 (calculated on a minimum of nine semester hours earned at ASU);
- completing the university General Studies Mathematics requirement (MA);
- completing the computer science requirement (CS computer course);
- completing the communication requirement; and
- completing the following classes with a 2.50 minimum average GPA and a minimum grade of “C” in each:
  - ENG 101, 102 First-Year Comp. or ENG 105 Advanced First-Year Comp.
  - Writing req. (L)
  - JUS 105 Intro. to Justice Studies or JUS 305 Principles of Justice Studies
  - JUS 301 Research in Justice Studies
  - JUS 302 Basic Stat. Analysis in Justice Studies
  - JUS 303 Justice Theory

The faculty recommends that Justice Studies students take one course dealing with the American government system (for example, POS 110, 270, or 310); one Psychology course; and one Sociology course. These courses may apply to the SB core area of General Studies.

Suggested Two-Year Curriculum

Complete admission competency deficiencies within the first year of enrollment at ASU.

The School of Justice and Social Inquiry, formerly The School of Justice Studies, moved administrative homes from the College of Public Programs to the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences effective July 1, 2004. Students pursuing the Bachelor of Science in Justice Studies according to a catalog prior to 2005–2006 will complete the degree requirements respective to their appropriate catalog. For example, if you are eligible for the 2002–2003 catalog, you will complete your degree requirements for the BS — Justice Studies as prescribed by the 2002–2003 catalog, even though Justice and Social Inquiry is now officially a unit of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. You are not required to complete any College of Liberal Arts and Sciences curricular requirements.
