

of teachers in the public schools of the Territory.

The wisdom of the Board in adopting the present three year's course of study; - in employing an additional teacher; - in improving the grounds; and in increasing the accommodations and facilities of the school has been fully demonstrated in the growth of the school during the year and in the present encouraging outlook for the future.

It is important that additional accommodations be provided to meet the requirements of the increased attendance that may reasonably be expected at the opening of the next term. However, should it not be found advisable, for want of funds, to enlarge the building, as now under contemplation by the Board, I would, nevertheless, recommend the employment of an additional teacher and that such changes be made in the present building
