

Blowhards Are Ready--Are You?

WINDY GUYS WILL EXERCISE TONSILS

A bunch of blowhards may get a chance to talk tonight, and so our snoopy reporter has already weeded quotes from them:

PRESIDENT GRADY GAMMAGE

I like Tempe alright, alright, only I can't stick a gun out of my office window like I used to at Flagstaff and shoot a deer and then get my picture in the papers.

L. ALTON RIGGS

I may run for legislature and I want you to know that a vote for Riggs is a vote for Riggs.

HORACE GRIFFEN

Paper, mister? The keynote of my speech is "buy a paper." Yes, buy a good paper. Buy the Arizona Republic and you can quote me on anything.

CHARLEY STAUFFER

Yes, buy a paper. Griff is right, the Republic is a good paper.

IRA D. PAYNE

No, I don't chew tobacco. I just talk that way to make the kids think I'm like "Popeye the Sailor" and plenty tough. And I have a swell reputation for just that little thing.

GARFIELD GOODWIN

My experience with the board of education has been one long argument.

FRED J. JOYCE

All I've done on the board of education is argue.

DR. HERMANN HENDRIX

The members of the board of education like to argue.

TOASTMASTER MULLEN

I'm going to crack some stale jokes tonight.

EX-CAPTAIN IRISH

It's a frame-up, I'm sure, I never looked like that picture.

DEAN JOHN R. MURDOCK

Now back in Kirksville, Mo., when I was just a lad, we had a banquet. My, but it was an enormous affair. But, my friends, there are more liars here than there were in the "Show Me" state.

YAA! MUSIC?

Who ever heard of a banquet without some punk quartet? We'd like to hear one—Garfield Goodwin, Charley Stauffer, Fred Irish, and John R. Sandige—singing "Sweet Adeline!"

Coach Lavik May Sing The Blues

Rudy Lavik tonight adds much to his after-dinner speech reputation when he tells Arizona State graduates how he did it—beat Tempe year after year.

But Tempe's worries are over. The fog-horn voiced Norwegian has been "singing the blues," a trick he learned in the icy fastness of the pine and peak country.

And when that wise-cracking coach starts "moaning" there is trouble ahead for opponents—remember how the weak Lumberjacks used to whip Tempe

Besides, Lavik thinks he is as good a crooner as any other star who appears over the air!

The Alumni Association of the teachers college desires to extend its sincere sympathy to their president-elect, Alton Riggs, and to his family in the loss of Mr. Riggs' sister, Miss Donna Riggs, esteemed member of the class of '34.

JOHN R. SANDIGE, Pres.
LEONA M. HAULOT, Secy.

J. OSCAR MULLEN OF '94 IS TOASTMASTER

With John R. Sandige, '14, as presiding officer and J. Oscar Mullen, '94, toastmaster, the program for this evening's banquet will open with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Dr. Arthur J. Matthews, president emeritus, will deliver his 33rd message of greeting to alumni of the college.

Vocal solo; "The Two Grenadiers" by Schumann; Donald Van Petten, '33, accompanied by Mrs. Hazel Harvey Quaid, '33.

Symposium; Board Members' Reflections, Garfield Goodwin, '99, Dr. Herman E. Hendrix, Fred J. Joyce.

Vocal solo; "Spring Singing" by MacFadyens; Miss Bess Barkley, accompanied by Miss Leona Alldredge.

Address by President Grady Gammage, "The Six-Horse Team."

The dance in the Recreation hall in Old Main will begin immediately after the banquet.

NO SATURDAY WORK IN SUMMER SCHOOL

As indications point towards this summer's special session at Arizona State being the largest in history, no Saturday classes will be held as in previous years.

All classwork will be in the cool morning hours, five days weekly.

Credits earned in the summer session are applicable upon the A. B. degree, and upon the renewal or earning of teaching certificates. John Odus Grimes is summer school director.
