

GOLDWATER, JOSEPH born in Konin, Russian Poland, December 30, 1830; married (1) Ellen Blackman at San Francisco on _____ about 18 _____. Children (2 sons and a daughter) Lemuel, Harry and Sarah (Mrs. Louis Cohen)

Married (2) Mamie at _____ on _____ 18 ____ (about 1888).

Joined his elder brother, Michael, in London, England and they went on to California in 1852; came to La Paz, on the Colorado River shortly after discovery of placer gold near there and opened a store under the name of J. Goldwater and Brother in 1862 which was moved to Mineral City (Ehrenberg) in 1865; listed, U.S. Census, 1870, at Ehrenberg, occupation - Grocer, property valued at $15,000; the following was printed in the Prescott, Arizona Miner on June 22, 1872:

On the morning of June 15, Joe and M. Goldwater and Dr. W. W. Jones, parted from friends here and took the road leading to Ehrenberg, Dr. Jones and M. Goldwater, in one buggy, and Jos. Goldwater, in another. They had reached the "divide" of Granite mountain; had, indeed, proceeded nearly one-half mile beyond that dangerous place, and, were, no doubt, feeling that they had passed the Rubicon, when, horrors of horrors, bullet after bullet flew at them, from guns in the hands of treacherous Apaches. Doctor Jones and M. Goldwater were ahead, and had a very narrow escape, as one bullet passed through the Doctor's shirt sleeve, and another passed through M. Goldwater's hat.

But poor Joe got the worst of it, having received two dangerous wounds, from bullets, in the back. The savages were on every side of the little party, hid in the brush, so that their escape is almost miraculous. One of the horses was shot in the neck. Open ground was soon reached, and better still, white friends, in the persons of L. R. Stephenson, George Jackson and Jas. O'Leary, of Walnut Grove, who were coming to Prescott in a wagon.

Upon meeting them the Goldwater party had to come to a halt, as the frightened horses could not pass their wagon, and it was then it was discovered that Jos. Goldwater was dangerously wounded. But the hellish Indians were advancing, and the whites must either fight them or get away from them. Jones, Stephansen and others were for staying and fighting the savages, who numbered about forty. But, upon reflecting how Jos. Goldwater was suffering, retreat was the word, and retreat they did, followed by the Indians. Skull Valley was soon reached.

The party stopped at E. F. Bowers' place, which gentleman got two soldiers of the mail escort to ride to town and Fort Whipple, over the trail, which feat was very quickly performed. Dr. Baily, Medical Director of the Department, sent down surgical instruments as per request of Dr. Jones; the balls were probed for; the wounded man relieved, and is now, we believe, in the Hospital at Camp Date Creek, where, it is hoped, he will speedily recover.

They had a branch store in Phoenix, 1872-75 which was moved to Prescott in 1876; an advertisement in the Prescott Arizona Enterprise of January 16, 1878, reads:

J. Goldwater,            M. Goldwater,
Ehrenberg                Prescott.

J. Goldwater & Bro.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers
-in-
General Merchandise

Corner of Goodwin & Cortes Sts.

Keep constantly on hand a large and fresh stock of
Groceries,            Provisions,
Tobaccoes,          Cigars,
Yankee Notions,    Paints, Oils

Brushes,            Harness,          Iron,
Steel,                Woodenware,      Tinware,
Crockerly,          Furniture,        Linens,
Cloths,              Carpets,          Matting,
Wallpaper,          Wool sacks,      Fleece Twine,
Sheep Shears,

FLOUR AND BARLEY
In Quantities to Suit.
Particular attention paid to consignments of

Wool, Hides, Ores or Bullion,

All of which will be shipped to San Francisco, via Ehrenberg, with dispatch
and at the lowest rates

GOLD AND SILVER BULLION,
HIDES AND WOOL,

Bought Or Advances Made Thereon.

Drafts Sold on All Parts of the Territory.

The Enterprise of February 13, 1878, stated:

Goldwater & Bro's. two story brick store is one of the handsomest institutions we have ever seen.

Early in 1883 he established a store at Benson which he moved to Fairbank about a year later where he had a lucrative business; died at the residence of J. M. Castenada in Tombstone, Cochise County,
A.T., August 31, 1889, aged 58; buried Hills of Eternity Cemetery,
San Francisco, California; the following obituary was printed in the Tombstone Prospector:

Joseph Goldwater, one of Arizona's pioneers, died in this city Saturday afternoon after a brief illness. He occupied a place in Arizona's history which few men now living can claim. He came to the Territory early in the sixties and began business at La Paz on the Colorado river. Mr. Goldwater came to Yuma from La Paz, where he lived some time, after which he visited and did business in nearly every mining camp in the Territory of any size.

His life was full of hardship and bitter experience.
He was not a man who courted the friendship of every one,
but those whom he counted on as his friends were true as steel. He braved the dangers of Indian outbreaks. Outlaws, time and again, had robbed him of the fruits of his toil, but he never looked back or uttered a word of complaint. He had his faults as all mortals have, but his many acts of charity and kindness toward those who were in need of assistance, are monuments to his memory which are lasting.

Deceased was, truly, a pioneer of Arizona, a man who in the early days risked his life on many an occasion. Generous to a fault, many a brother pioneer will regret his demise. In company with his brother, Michael Goldwater, now of San Francisco, he started several business houses in Arizona and conducted them in a successful manner.

GOLDWATER, JOSEPH born in Konin, Russian Poland, December 30, 1830; married (1) Ellen Blackman at San Francisco on _____ about 18 _____. Children (2 sons and a daughter) Lemuel, Harry and Sarah (Mrs. Louis Cohen)

---

Married (2) Manuela at _____ on _____ 18 ____ (about 1888).

Joined his elder brother, Michael, in London, England and they went on to California in 1852; came to La Paz, on the Colorado River shortly after discovery of placer gold near there and opened a store under the name of J. Goldwater and Brother in 1862 which was moved to Mineral City (Ehrenberg) in 1865; listed, U.S. Census, 1870, at Ehrenberg, occupation - Grocer, property valued at $15,000; the following was printed in the Prescott, Arizona Miner on June 22, 1872:

On the morning of June 15, Joe and M. Goldwater and Dr. W. W. Jones, parted from friends here and took the road leading to Ehrenberg, Dr. Jones and M. Goldwater, in one buggy, and Jos. Goldwater, in another. They had reached the "divide" of Granite mountain; had, indeed, proceeded nearly one-half mile beyond that dangerous place, and, were, no doubt, feeling that they had passed the Rubicon, when, horrors of horrors, bullet after bullet flew at them, from guns in the hands of treacherous Apaches. Doctor Jones and M. Goldwater were ahead, and had a very narrow escape, as one bullet passed through the Doctor's shirt sleeve, and another passed through M. Goldwater's hat.

But poor Joe got the worst of it, having received two dangerous wounds, from bullets, in the back. The savages were on every side of the little party, hid in the brush, so that their escape is almost miraculous. One of the horses was shot in the neck. Open ground was soon reached, and better still, white friends, in the persons of L. R. Stephenson, George Jackson and Jas. O'Leary, of Walnut Grove, who were coming to Prescott in a wagon.

Upon meeting them the Goldwater party had to come to a halt, as the frightened horses could not pass their wagon, and it was then it was discovered that Jos. Goldwater was dangerously wounded. But the hellish Indians were advancing, and the whites must either fight them or get away from them. Jones, Stephenson and others were for staying and fighting the savages, who numbered about forty. But, upon reflecting how Jos. Goldwater was suffering, retreat was the word, and retreat they did, followed by the Indians. Skull Valley was soon reached.

The party stopped at E. F. Bowers' place, which gentleman got two soldiers of the mail escort to ride to town and Fort Whipple, over the trail, which feat was very quickly performed. Dr. Baily, Medical Director of the Department, sent down surgical instruments as per request of Dr. Jones; the balls were probed for; the wounded man relieved, and is now, we believe, in the hospital at Camp Date Creek, where, it is hoped, he will speedily recover.

They had a branch store in Phoenix, 1872-75 which was moved to Prescott in 1876; an advertisement in the Prescott Arizona Enterprise of January 16, 1878, reads:

J. Goldwater, M. Goldwater,
Ehrenberg Prescott.

J. Goldwater & Bro.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers
-in-
General Merchandise

Corner of Goodwin & Cortes Sts.

Keep constantly on hand a large and
fresh stock of
Groceries, Provisions,
Tobaccos, Cigars,
Yankee Notions, Paints, Oils

Brushes, Harness, Iron,
Steel, Woodenware, Tinware,
Crockerly, Furniture, Linens,
Cloths, Carpets, Matting,
Wallpaper, Wool sacks, Fleece Twine,
Sheep Shears,

FLOUR AND BARLEY
In Quantities to Suit.
Particular attention paid to consignments of

Wool, Hides, Ores or Bullion,

All of which will be shipped to San Francisco, via Ehrenberg, with dispatch
and at the lowest rates

GOLD AND SILVER BULLION,
HIDES AND WOOL,

Bought Or Advances Made Thereon.

Drafts Sold on All Parts of the Territory.

The Enterprise of February 13, 1878, stated:

Goldwater & Bro's. two story brick store is one of the handsomest institutions we have ever seen.

Early in 1883 he established a store at Benson which he moved to Fairbank about a year later where he had a lucrative business; died at the residence of J. M. Castenada in Tombstone, Cochise County,
A.T., August 31, 1889, aged 58; buried Hills of Eternity Cemetery,
San Francisco, California; the following obituary was printed in the Tombstone Prospector:

Joseph Goldwater, one of Arizona's pioneers, died in this city Saturday afternoon after a brief illness. He occupied a place in Arizona's history which few men now living can claim. He came to the Territory early in the sixties and began business at La Paz on the Colorado river. Mr. Goldwater came to Yuma from La Paz, where he lived some time, after which he visited and did business
in nearly every mining camp in the Territory of any size.

His life was full of hardship and bitter experience.
He was not a man who courted the friendship of every one,
but those whom he counted on as his friends were true as

steel. He braved the dangers of Indian outbreaks. Outlaws, time and again, had robbed him of the fruits of his toil, but he never looked back or uttered a word of complaint. He had his faults as all mortals have, but his many acts of charity and kindness toward those who were in need of assistance, are monuments to his memory which are lasting.

In reporting his death, the Prescott Courier stated:

Deceased was, truly, a pioneer of Arizona, a man who in the early days risked his life on many an occasion. Generous to a fault, many a brother pioneer will regret his demise. In company with his brother, Michael Goldwater, now of San Francisco, he started several business houses in Arizona and conducted them in a successful manner.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION

- Farish, T. E. - History of Arizona, Vol. 3, p. 193; Vol. 4, p. 264; Vol. 6, pp. 206, 211, 212, 246.
- Society of Arizona Pioneers - Membership book, 1886.
- The Arizona Miner, Prescott, November 27, 1869, 3:1; November 25, 1871, 4:2; January 13, 3:3, June 22, 2:2 and October 12, 1872, 2:4; February 12, 1875, 1:1; June 2, 1876, 1:4; June 22, 3:4 (advt.), July 13, 3:2, August 10, 3:4, August 17, 1:6, November 2, 3:3, November 9, 4:1-6-7 (advt.), and December 7, 1877, 4:1; May 10, 4:1 and December 13, 1878, 4:2; January 31, 3:2, March 7, 4:2, March 14, 4:1, March 28, 3:2 and 4:1, May 10, 4:1, and December 5, 1879, 4:2; May 28, 1880, 2:5 and 3:1.
- The Arizona Enterprise, Prescott, January 16, 2:5, February 13, 3:1-2, April 27, 3:1, June 8, 1:4 and December 21, 1878, 1:4.
- The Prescott Courier, May 26, 1:9, December 22, 1:9, and December 29, 1883, 3:5; August 6, 1889 (obituary).
- The Journal-Miner, Prescott, September 5, 1889, 3:1 (death notice).
- The Phoenix-Herald, December 20, 1883; September 5, 1889, 3:1 (death notice).
- The Arizona Gazette, Phoenix, February 18, 1881, 2:2; June 22, 1882, 3:3, September 18, 1884, 3:3; September 3, 1889, 2:1 (death notice).
- The Arizona Sentinel, Yuma, June 22, 1872, May 4, 1873, 1:2; February 12, 1875, 1:1; July 19, 1879, 3:2; August 7, 1880, 3:1; January 1, 3:2, January 29, 3:2, February 5, 2:2, February 12, February 19, 3:2, March 12, 2:1 and 3:2, April 2, 2:1, and July 2, 1881, 2:2; March 11, 1882, 3:1; September 7, 1889, 3:4 (obituary reprinted from the Tombstone Prospector).
- The Arizona Citizen, Tucson, June 29, 1872, 2:3; August 8, 1874, 4:3; May 23, 1875, 1:4.
- The Arizona Star, Tucson, November 19, 1882, 4:4.
- The Tombstone Republican, December 15, 1:5 and 3:3, December 29, 1883, 3:4; February 16, 1884, 1:1-2.
- The Record-Epitaph, Tombstone, September 8, 4:1, September 10, 1885, 4:1.
- The Tombstone-Epitaph, May 15, 1887, 1:1; September 1 and September 3, 1889, 3:1 (obituary).
- The Tombstone Prospector, June 29, 1888, 3:1 and September 1, 1889 (obituary).