Composition or Theory Concentration

The Arizona resident applicant for transfer admission must have a cumulative grade point average of 2.00 on a four-point (A) scale in all college-level work, and be in good standing and eligible to return to the last institution attended. Students who have less than 24 semester transfer credits must also meet competency requirements. The Bachelor of Music degree program offers concentration in Music Theory or Music Composition. The undergraduate curriculum provides an understanding of musical properties and their relationship, opportunities to participate as a performer and listener, and repertory for study that includes all cultural and historical periods. 1. Although a course may satisfy a core area requirement and an awareness area requirement concurrently, a course may not be used to satisfy requirements in two core areas simultaneously or in two awareness areas, even if approved for those areas.
2. When selecting HU or SB core courses, students must keep in mind that A. two courses in one of these two core areas must be in the same department; B. courses from at least two departments must be taken. These two conditions may, but need not be satisfied in the same core area. At least one course within the 15 semester hours must be an upper-division course taken only at ASU.
