Q1: Are you all looking for an alternative to Jaggaer Marketplace? or better Jaggaer Pricing? (or maybe both)
A1: No, ASU is looking for catalog marketplace suppliers from established companies that serves as a distributor for punch-out capabilities. ASU is not looking to create a marketplace or an alternative to Jaggaer.

Q2: When ASU uses the term "marketplace", do they mean a marketplace where suppliers can self-serve post products and inventory and receive orders to fulfill? Is the expectation that suppliers self manage a catalog that is presented to buyers?
A2: Yes and yes.

Q3: The term "punch-out" is used to describe interaction with the existing eCommerce platform. Are they looking for a platform that can expose a catalog vis a cXML like punchout or is it shorthand for single sign on between systems where sessions are seamlessly handed off between the two systems??
A3: As described in Addendum 5, ASU is seeking proposals for a catalog punch-out system.

Q4: What are the general priority levels for:
   a. Change Order support
   b. Native kitting and bundling vs using a 3rd party CPQ
   c. Governance/hierarchical view rights for buyers
A4: ASU is seeking proposals for a catalog punch-out system from established vendors. Change order support is handled through our WorkDay system through a purchase order.
